SHOWS NEW RATES MEAN A $108,000 INCREASE TO BELL

W. E. Howett Tells Delegates if Other Corporations Made Money in Proportion St. Louis Would Be Termed Greatest "Get-Rich-Quick" City in Country.

MANY BUSINESS MEN OBJECT TO INCREASE

Statistics Presented Before Committee Showing Business Man Paying Higher Charge Is Giving Interest on $1800 at 6 Per Cent.

Representatives of business and civic organizations attended the public hearing before the House of Delegates special committee Wednesday afternoon in the city hall to protest against the increase in rates for business telephones by the Bell Telephone Co.

The hearing is in connection with a bill pending before the House of Delegates limiting the rates for business telephones to $6.50 a month. The old rate of the Bell company for business service was $6.50. An advance to $108 a year has been announced by the company, effective Feb. 1.

Members of the Merchants' Exchange, Civic League, Real Estate Exchange, Million Population Club, St. Louis Manufacturers and Importers' Association, and smaller organizations were on hand when the meeting was called to order at 3 p. m.

Representatives of the Bell Telephone Co. were present to explain the reason for the advance in rates.

W. E. Howett Gives Figures.

W. E. Howett, president of the Howett Manufacturing Co., presented figures to the committee showing the result of his investigation into the number of telephones in use in St. Louis business houses, the revenue, percentage of profit, etc. He represented the Rotary Club at the hearing.

In discussing the rate increase Howett said:

"In the city of St. Louis there are 2000 direct one-party business phones. The present rate until after Feb. 1 is $78 per annum. The new rate after Feb. 1 will be $108 per annum. The difference between the present rate and the new one will be $30. If you accept the new rate you will be paying interest on $1800 per annum at the rate of 6 per cent. By multiplying 2000 by $78 gives you $156,000, which represents the gross income to the Bell Telephone Co. under the present rate. By multiplying 2000 by $108 gives you $216,000 gross income under the new rate. The difference between the old and new rate will represent $60,000 additional income to the Telephone company. Figured on the basis of 6 per cent $216,000 represents interest on $3,600,000.

"Taking up the question of the two-party line phones: There are 4000 business phones of this kind in operation. The present rate is $66 per annum. Multiplied by 4000 would give you $264,000 gross income under the present rate. The new rate will be $78 per annum, which if multiplied by 4000 will give $312,000 gross income under the new rate. The difference between the two represents $48,000 additional gross income. Figured on the basis of 6 per cent, $312,000 represents interest on $5,200,000.

"Combining the gross income on the two lines you will find it represents $216,000 on the direct line and $312,000 on the two-party line. The total gross income represents $528,000 on both phones. If figured on a basis of 6 per cent represents interest on $8,800,000.

Paying Interest on $1800.

"The business man who uses a direct line phone at the present rate of $78 per annum is paying interest on $1300 at the rate of 6 per cent. The same man in using the same phone under the new rate will be paying interest on $1800 at the rate of 6 per cent.

"The business man who uses the two-party phone at the present rate of $66 per annum is paying interest on $1100 at the rate of 6 per cent. The same man in using the same phone under the new rate will be paying interest on $1300 at the rate of 6 per cent.

The authorized issue of capital stock of the Bell Telephone Co. is $10,000,000. The capital is $8,779,800. It would be possible, therefore, to pay the stockholders of the Bell Telephone Co. 6 per cent on their holdings. The revenue for paying this interest being derived from the one and two party line phones. The operating expenses, depreciation, etc., would be paid out of the additional 56,000 residence and slot machine phones.

"To give you a further idea of the revenue of the telephone company I will say that there are approximately 44,000 residence phones in operation in the city of St. Louis, which, figured on a cost of $24 per annum, would give the Bell Telephone Co. a revenue of $1,056,000 from this source. This would represent interest on $17,600,000 at the rate of 6 per cent.

"Taking into consideration the slot machines, there are approximately 12,000, from which the Bell Telephone Co. receives a revenue on each of $84 per annum, or $1,008,000, which, if calculated

STOTESBURY'S GIFTS TO BRIDE WORTH MILLIONS

© BY EDWARD T. STOTESBURY 1912
MRS. OLIVER CROMWELL

She Also Receives $25,000 Diamond Chain From Morgan, and Other Treasures.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Washington society is dumb with wonder at the magnificence of the presents received by Mrs. Oliver Cromwell at her marriage to E. T. Stotesbury of Philadelphia today.

J. Pierpont Morgan, with whom Stotesbury is associated in business, has sent Mrs. Cromwell a chain of diamonds, from which is suspended a wonderful pear-shaped diamond of the first water. The chain hangs nearly to her waist and is composed of diamonds weighing almost a karat each and mounted on platinum. This gift is valued at $25,000.

Stotesbury's business partners in the Drexel company in Philadelphia have given Mrs. Cromwell three dozen gold service plates. The plates belonged to Queen Adelaide and were used at the royal table.

Stotesbury's own gifts to his fiancee are almost beyond imagination and worth millions. In addition to the tiaras, necklaces and rings of pearls and diamonds there is a "ground necklace of pearls" which is possibly one of the finest collections of pearls in the world. It derives its name from its length. After being placed about the neck it touches the floor. Stotesbury has spent years collecting the pearls. They are of fine color and perfectly matched. The necklace alone is worth more than half a million.

Wonderful Array of Watches.

There is a magnificent pearl and diamond tiara, the pearls of large size and purity. In the center of each the unity of design is carried out in diamonds. There is what looks like a little platinum pendant with a single tremendous diamond in it hanging from a long chain of platinum set with diamonds, but on turning it over one finds that it is a tiny "thin model watch."

One is a curious oblong watch, a little narrower at the top than at the bottom, its queer little oblong face looking out from under a line of small diamonds and the trinket itself being mounted on a narrow black ribbon with two tiny diamond slides. Another tiny watch of gold and black enamel is mounted on an attractive blue and gold bracelet.

There are a half dozen tiny gold bijouterie clocks in enamel of all colors, and hiding underneath them divers and sundry fascinating little boxes.

There are gold-mounted toilet sets and traveling bags with gold and jewel mounting. There is silver and gold and cut glass bric a brac "to burn," and quantities of table silver of every imaginable sort. Two of the handsomest offerings of this sort are two dozen heavy silver and gold terrapin forks, with plates to match, from the Alexander Brinton Coxes of Philadelphia, and from the Hunting Valley Club, a tremendous silver vase, probably 20 inches high, and the tray on which it is to stand when it forms the table center at formal functions.

The wedding gown is from Paquin, old ivory uncut velvet, with sable and Old English point lace. It is made en princesse, caught over on the right side a little below the waist and falling in heavy straight folds from there. The velvet is cut out at the neck, square back and front, but filled in with lace and with a high-boned collar. A rather short square train is edged with a deep band of ermine. The going-away gown is to be a coat suit of gray taffeta, with a big gray hat with fur and clusters of velvet nasturtiums. It is understood the trip is to be to Palm Beach and possibly other Florida resorts.

Mrs. Cromwell will give a large farewell reception, for which a special train conveys the guests from New York, stopping at Philadelphia and Baltimore on the way down.

Recent Gifts of Pearls to Brides and Wives

SHORTLY before the holidays Elbert H. Gary, chairman of the board of directors of the United States Steel Corporation, paid $100,000 for a single strand of pearls to add to the necklace which Mrs. Gary has had for several years.

Col. John Jacob Astor presented a pearl necklace that cost more than $200,000 to his bride.

Frank Jay Gould gave his bride a pearl necklace that cost just about as much as Mrs. Astor's.

Former Senator William A. Clark bought a costly pearl necklace for a Christmas present, and in the month before Christmas one leading New York jewelry firm sold three pearl necklaces costing more than $100,000 apiece and a score costing between $10,000 and $20,000.

HOMELESS NOT PAID FOR WORK; COMPLAIN

Men Who Shoveled Snow Only Entitled to Further Shelter at Four Courts.

Twenty homeless men who have been regular lodgers in the Four Courts basement have complained to the police because they received no pay from the Civic League for shoveling snow all day Tuesday. They said all they received were tickets entitling them to further shelter at the Four Courts.

The men were told that no pay was coming to them and that they had been put to work in accordance with the Civic League's plan to test their capabilities and find what work they are suited for. The tests are being made by James L. Dawson, former superintendent of the workhouse.

STEWART DEAD 9 HOURS WHEN TROLL FILED ON ESTATE

Public Administrator Acted Before News of Tragedy Was on the Street.

AGENT KILLED IN WRECK

Official Took Charge of Effects While Widow Was in Washington.

Records of the Probate Court Wednesday revealed that Public Administrator Troll took possession of Guy L. Stewart's estate at 12:43 p. m. Tuesday before newspapers were on the street with accounts of Stewart's death in a railroad accident.

Stewart, who was agricultural agent for the Cotton Belt Railroad, was incinerated in his private car at Kelso, Mo., when it was hit from behind by an Iron Mountain freight train at 3:40 a. m. Tuesday.

When an effort was made to learn how Troll knew of Stewart's death, Troll was not in his office. His chief deputy, William F. Bohn, said all information must come from Troll. Later when Troll returned to his office the question was put to him.

"Mr. Stewart's attorney notified us of his death," he said. "I do not recall the attorney's name. Mr. Bohn knows it, but he is not in the office now."

Campbell Allison was Stewart's attorney. When asked how Troll learned of the death, Allison said: "I do not know. I did not notify him. When I learned that he knew of it I went to Troll's office and it was agreed that he take charge of the estate."

His Wife Asks for His Body.

Mrs. Stewart, in an interview at her home in Washington, D. C., Wednesday gave no indication that she knew Stewart had filed a suit for divorce in St. Louis Nov. 3 last. She asked that the body be sent to Washington for burial. It had been previously announced that it would be taken to his parents' home at Gaylord, Mich.

The principal allegation in Stewart's petition was that his wife did not care to come to St. Louis to live. He said he had offered to send his private car to Washington for her. Papers in the suit had been served on the wife.

The three roads whose trains were involved in the collision have started a rigid investigation to fix responsibility. According to statements given out by the Missouri Pacific one train crew has reported that signal lights were displayed properly at the rear of Stewart's car, attached to the Cotton Belt passenger train. Whether the signals were displayed or whether they were ignored by the Iron Mountain crew is the main point to be settled by the investigation.

RUNS FOR CAR; TAKEN ILL

L. & N. Cashier Has Brain Hemorrhage After Sprint.

Edmond P. Bunyan of 633 North Twenty-seventh street, East St. Louis, ran half a block Wednesday morning to catch a street car en route to the Louisville & Nashville freight offices, First street and Bogy avenue, where he is employed as cashier. The car, heated by electric radiators, was very warm and with the added factor of his sprint, Bunyan perspired.

A few minutes after reaching his office he became unconscious and physicians who were called found him suffering from a hemorrhage of the brain, caused, they believe, by his sudden cooling off after leaving the car. His condition is critical.

SAYS DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE SAVED HARVESTER TRUST

F. O. Lowe Complains Report to U. S. Prosecutors in 1906 Was "Chloroformed."

REPRESENTS INDEPENDENT

House Committee Witness Asserts Roosevelt Said, "See Me Later," on Subject.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—F. J. Lowe, representing independent manufacturers, charged before the House Rules Committee today that "fifty-one per cent of the stockholders in the Steel, Sugar, Beef and Bankers' trusts also control the International Harvester Co." He declared that the Department of Justice had "chloroformed" every movement made to prosecute the Harvester Trust, "shown by the fact that the Townsend report to the department of 1906 has slumbered there ever since."

Lowe said that last autumn he asked Col. Theodore Roosevelt's advice as to what he should do to urge prosecution of the Harvester company and Roosevelt had said:

"You'd better come to see me later about that."

"Later," said Lowe, "I was astounded to learn that Mr. Roosevelt had placed a clean bill of health on the United States Steel Corporation. I also received a letter from Mr. Roosevelt stating that he could give me no advice on the Harvester company, and asking me to 'drop in any Friday morning and I'll explain why.'"

Nagel in Conference.

Secretary of Commerce and Labor Nagel participated in the discussion. W. H. Green of Creighton, Neb., a veteran dealer in farm machinery, declared that the so-called Harvester and Steel trusts, the National City Bank of New York and the great transportation systems of the country were dominated by the same directorates.

Green urged the committee not to give the "Harvester Trust" an immunity bath. He asserted that the company had raised prices from 15 to 20 per cent.

Lowe charged that in the formation of the "trust" the smaller manufacturers were frozen out. The actual work of forming the trust, he declared, was directed by J. Pierpont Morgan through George W. Perkins. Charles R. Flint, he added, was the original promoter, who turned his affairs over to Morgan & Co.

"We propose to show," said Lowe, "that the United States Steel Co. gives rebates to the International Harvester Co., and that the Belt Line Railroad in Chicago obstructs freight traffic of independent companies."

Sells Cheaper Abroad.

He also charged that the "trust" sold goods at home at a profit of 100 per cent and sold abroad almost at cost, demanding cash from American farmers and giving long-term contracts to foreign trade.

"We charge that the International Harvester Co., through the National City Bank," Lowe continued, "can break any independent concern in the United States."

IT'S ALMOST BALMY, ISN'T IT?
JAN 17 12

For the first time this year the mercury has gone above the freezing point—32 degrees.

By comparison with the recent below-zero conditions, Wednesday's weather was comparatively summer-like, with the temperature hovering around the 40 mark.

If it were twice as warm it would be sultry enough to go without a waistcoat and carry palm-leaf fan.

But the balmy weather will not last long. Another drop is in sight, the forecaster says, and there may be snow tonight.

The freezing mark was passed on the upturn at 4 a. m. and before noon the temperature was on the sunny side of 40.

A drop to about 26 degrees is scheduled to occur in the next 12 hours.

Official forecast for St. Louis and vicinity: Unsettled weather; with snow tonight or Thursday; colder; lowest temperature tonight will be about 26 degrees.

Missouri—Unsettled weather, with colder tonight or Thursday.

Illinois—Unsettled weather, with light snow in northern and rain in southern portion tonight or Thursday; colder.

ST. LOUIS COUPLE PROMOTING FAMOUS SIR FRANCIS DRAKE ESTATE INVESTMENT CONCERN

St. Louis woman and her husband who, as claimants of an English estate, are alleged to have received $30,000 from investors in five years.

MRS. SUDIE B. WHITEAKER.

S. D. WHITEAKER

BRITISH CONSUL SEES NO HOPE OF ANY PROFIT

Mrs. Sudie B. Whiteaker and Her Husband Estimate They Sold Shares to 1000 Persons and Put Receipts at More Than $30,000.

Sales Were of One-Fourth of One-Eightieth of Billion Dollar Property—Definite Promise Denied.

Money Taken in All Spent in Investigation and Trips to England and an Additional Sum Is Required.

Stephen D. Whiteaker and his wife, Mrs. Sudie B. Whiteaker, of 4540 Arco avenue, were found by a Post-Dispatch reporter Wednesday to be the promoters of the Sir Francis Drake estate enterprise. As was told in the Post-Dispatch Sunday, stock in this enterprise has been sold to hundreds of persons in St. Louis and in Illinois cities, at $25 a share. These sales have gone on for five years, and the Whiteakers estimate the number of buyers at 1000 and their receipts as more than $30,000.

Thomas Erskine, British Consul in St. Louis, who had been investigating the matter for some time, said in a statement given out to the newspapers Sunday that there was no hope for the investors to recover anything, as no such estate was in litigation in England. He said some of the buyers told him they expected a $40,000 slice of the estate in return for every $25 share purchased, and that he knew of one man who put his last dollar into the investment.

Drake Dead 316 Years.

Sir Francis Drake, who died 316 years ago, was a renowned mariner of Queen Elizabeth's time. To purchasers of stock in the estate enterprise, Mrs. Whiteaker says she has related that Sir Francis' estate consisted of more than 7000 acres near the city of Plymouth, England, now worth from $750,000,000 to more than $1,000,000,000. She told them she represented the direct heirs, and that funds were needed for litigation. For this purpose, she has told them, the $25 shares were being sold.

Mrs. Whiteaker repeated her story of the estate to a Post-Dispatch reporter and denied Consul Erskine's statement that $40,000 had been promised to each of the $25 investors. She said she had named no figures, but had told them there was a vast estate, and that share-buyers would get a certain per cent of a one-eightieth portion of the estate, if such were recovered through process of law.

Consul Erskine, when told of Mrs. Whiteaker's statement, repeated his declaration that there was no such estate now open to settlement in England. He showed an official list of "funds dormant in chancery," in which the name of Drake did not appear. He also pointed out, by means of "Who's Who" and "Burke's Peerage," standard reference works, that a Sir Francis Drake, heir to the navigator's property, is living and owns 7700 acres. Buckland Abbey, Plymouth, is one of his homes. It is mentioned by the Whiteakers as a part of the property they claim.

Husband's Air Imposing.

When a Post-Dispatch reporter called on the Whiteakers at their home, a limousine was waiting outside. Whiteaker said it was his. He is large and of imposing appearance, with bald crown, a fringe of sandy hair and a tawny mustache. He wears a frock coat and conspicuous features of his toilet are a brilliant purple necktie, eyeglasses and a huge jade seal ring, worn on the little finger.

Whiteaker's occupation is stated by the city directory as "geneologist."

"My wife is a Drake heir, not I," he said. "She is also the active seller of stock in the estate." He then introduced Mrs. Whiteaker, who is tall and slender, with dark hair and black eyes. She wears a number of bracelets and rings, some of them set with handsome stones. Two sons, Guy and Abner, with Guy's wife and year-old baby, complete the family.

"We are not afraid of the British consul or anybody else," Whiteaker said with a frown, "because we know we are right, and we have made no promises that we cannot fulfill." Mrs. Whiteaker nodded her assent.

"The original Sir Francis Drake," he continued, "left an estate of approximately 7000 acres in the County of Devon, England. Part of it, I am told, is now occupied by the outskirts of the City of Plymouth. That estate is worth all the way from £150,000,000 to £250,000,000.

Famous Shakspearean Actor Marries One of His Company in Pueblo, Colo.

The news today from Pueblo, Colo., that Robert Bruce Mantell, the actor, had married Miss Genevieve Hamper of Detroit, a member of his company, aroused interest in theatrical circles, as it makes Mantell a strong rival of Nat Goodwin and Lillian Russell for progressive matrimonial honors. The new Mrs. Mantell is the fourth.

Mantell became a widower Oct. 30 last, when his third wife, Marie Booth Russell, died at Atlantic Highlands.

Miss Russell had been her husband's leading lady in Shakspearean roles for several seasons. She began failing from heart disease in June, and when her condition became critical, Mantell, who was playing in Pittsburg, hurried home on a special train, reaching her only half an hour before she died. For a time he appeared to be inconsolable.

The first Mrs. Mantell was known to the stage as Mary Sheldon. In 1893 she brought suit for divorce, naming Charlotte Behrens as corespondent. Miss Behrens, his leading lady, was the wife of Edward F. Huhn, manager of "The Spider and the Fly" company. Mantell and Miss Behrens denied the charges, and Huhn challenged Mantell to fight a duel in Kentucky, across the river from Cincinnati, but Mantell declined. Mrs. Mantell obtained her divorce.

Married Miss Behrens.

Mantell married Miss Behrens, who had obtained a divorce from Huhn in Chicago on the grounds of desertion in 1886.

In August, 1900, Mantell secretly married Marie Booth Russell. The ceremony was performed in Jersey City. The bride in private life was a Miss Peters of Brooklyn. For several years and up to the time of her illness, she was a co-star with her husband.

After Mantell's marriage to Miss Behrens, her husband sued him for alienation of his wife's affections, but the action was dropped. He had also, according to report, threatened to kill Mantell if the latter married Miss Behrens.

For about ten years, or until 1902, Mantell was unable to play in New York because of arrests in the $100 a week alimony awarded to his first wife. When he got back to Broadway it was understood he had settled all claims by the payment of $6000.

He Is 58 Years Old.

Mantell is a Scotchman and is 58 years old. He made his first appearance in England in 1874 and came to this country in 1878 as the "juvenile" in Mme. Modjeska's company.

Jack P. Mantell, son of the actor, was married last August to Helen Elizabeth Hills, daughter of George F. Hills of this city. The ceremony was performed at Asbury Park. The young man is 23 and is employed in Thompsonville, Conn.

CUMMINS TO MAKE PRESIDENTIAL RACE

Iowa Friends Say Senator Soon Will Announce Condidacy—He Says Nothing.

DES MOINES, Io., Jan. 17.—Senator Albert B. Cummins will shortly announce himself as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, according to a report circulated persistently among his friends here today. The Senator is in Washington.

It was stated that Senator Cummins had definitely made up his mind to enter the Republican contest after considering all phases of the situation. For several weeks, it is said, Iowa friends had strongly urged the Senator to enter the race.

Friends in Washington Expect Presidential Announcement.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—It is generally expected among Mr. Cummins' friends in Washington that an announcement of his candidacy will be made very soon. The Senator refused to discuss it today.

To Change Inauguration Day.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—The House Committee on Judiciary will report favorably within a few days the resolution of Representative Henry of Texas providing for a change of presidential inaugurations from March to the last Thursday in April. The change will require a constitutional amendment.

or from $750,000,000 to more than a billion dollars.

Says Trustees Hold Estate.

"Francis Drake died without issue, and left the estate to his brother, Thomas Drake. In the sixth generation there was no male heir but an illegitimate child, one Francis Henry Drake, and the estate went into the hands of trustees. The 7000 acres still are in the hands of trustees, acting for the Crown, and it is from these trustees that we hope to wrest the fortune.

"Since the death of the first Sir Francis Drake in 1595, there have been 14 generations, nine in England and five in America.

"The direct heir now is George W. Drake, 75 years old, of Rocheport, Mo. Mrs. Whiteaker is his cousin. She obtained from George W. Drake, for me, her husband, a power of attorney, about 15 years ago. There are in America 80 indirect heirs, and she hunted down all these and obtained from them contracts by which they were to give to her either $100 or 25 per cent of their share in the Drake estate."

These various one-fourths of one-eightieths of the estate, Whiteaker said, his wife has sold to outsiders. Each 25 per cent share she sells for $500. Five per cent of one-eightieth costs the investor $100, and for $25 he gets one and one-fourth per cent of one-eightieth.

Denies Definite Promise.

"We have made no false promises," Mrs. Whiteaker interposed. "We have never promised anybody $40,000 for $25. We have never named a figure. We have not guaranteed the value of the estate. We have simply said that there is an estate, and that the buyer of shares will get a certain per cent of one-eightieth of whatever we recover."

She declined to say how many people had invested, but showed a sheaf of contracts, each attested by a notary. It is known that there are about two hundred investors in Bloomington, Ill., a like number in La Belle, Mo., and many more in half a dozen other Illinois towns. Whiteaker said he would estimate the outside investors at no fewer than one thousand.

"I have devoted 15 years to this matter," Whiteaker said, "and for 12 years I have done nothing else. For five years we have been selling shares.

"In all I would say we have taken in more than $30,000. Most of this has gone to defray the expenses of my research, but, of course, a man has to live, you know. I have taken my percentage for a living all the time."

He said the money invested has all been spent and that more is needed for further research. He said he and his wife had made yearly visits to England since they began the promotion, to look up evidence, and sometimes they have gone oftener.

Investors Take Chances.

"We have wronged nobody and violated no law," he said. "I have never told anybody that I am sure of that estate, and I have never set a valuation on it. The people who have gone in with us have been told that there is an estate which we are trying to get. Their contracts are for a certain percentage of whatever we recover. If there is no recovery we cannot be held liable."

Whiteaker exhibited a gripsack full of documents. One was a Drake "family tree," two yards long by actual measurement, showing the alleged genealogy of the family through 14 generations from Sir Francis Drake to George W. Drake, with all the branches. Another was a "history" of the family done by a London genealogist. Others were purported copies of the wills of Sir Francis Drake and of Francis Henry Drake, at whose death in 1794 the estate, according to the Whiteakers, went into trusteeship.

The Bloomington Pantagraph, a daily newspaper, published last week the result of its investigation of the Drake estate matter. Its editor recently wrote to the London Times, asking that the matter be looked up, and the Times assigned a man to the task. He reported that there was no such estate in process of settlement, and that Sir Francis Drake's estate passed to his lawful heirs soon after his death. He forwarded a copy of the explorer's will, which gave the estate to his family, except for a bequest of £40 to the poor of Plymouth.

Dodger Empress Fears Nut Sundae Is Poison

From Our China Boy Reporter.

NANKING, China.

I HAVE just receive exclusive news from Pekin. Dodger Empress was out for walk on public square last night disguised like suffyjet. She went into corner drugstore and ask for nice dish of ice cream. When clerk brings it the ice cream look so funny. Is little fine-chopped-up brown stuff on top.

"O, TELL me, please, what is this," say Empress.

"Is fine American dish call chokly nut sundae," reply polite clerk.

Empress is play jig dance on floor with heels and holler:

"All police come quick. I have been attempted to be poisoned."

Becasue of sprinkly brown stuff on Dodger Empress' ice cream, public executioner is now walking beat in front of drug store waiting for clerk to come off duty. O, see what things can happen in dynasty which is not yet complete republic.

Is different way to do in republic. Executioner does not get busy so quick. All lawyers must have chance first.

Scouts which have been out to hunt pitchers for new China baseball league have made very bad report on Pekin amateur who threw bomb at Yuan Shi Kai's carriage. All say his control is no good. He must now practice every morning and if he hits carriage next time maybe he will be signed. Yuan Shi Kai say he would like to play some other position instead of home plate. Otherwise he will suppress game of baseball for China if he is alive when season opens.

on the basis of 6 per cent is interest on $16,800,000.

Total Revenue $2,592,000.

"As a summary of the gross revenue of the Bell Telephone Co.

Direct line	$ 216,000
Two-party line	312,000
Residence phones	1,056,000
Slot machine	1,008,000
Total	$2,592,000

"I figured on a basis of 6 per cent, the grand total would represent interest on $43,200,000.

"I venture to say that if our large manufacturing and business enterprises of St. Louis could show earnings of this kind in proportion to their capital stock and appraised value of their holdings, that St. Louis would have the reputation of being the biggest "get-rich-quick" city in the United States.

"In my arguments I desire to bring out the gross income derived from the direct and two-party business phones, as these are the only phones which will be affected by the new rate.

"It is a good idea for any city government to put a clamp on any public service corporation which tries to fool the public into believing it is not making money. The last quotation, on Dec. 22, 1911, on Bell Telephone Co. stock was 116⅜ bid. This certainly does not look like the telephone company was losing money."

SHIP GOES DOWN WITH ALL HANDS ON BOARD

Life Boats Unable to Go Out in Gale That Sweeps Coast of British Isles.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The British Isles are suffering from a storm which is causing havoc along the coasts and interior. Small vessels and fishing craft are reported to have gone ashore.

An unidentified three-masted steamer foundered with all hands near Peter Head.

From the size of the steamer it is thought probable that she came from America. Apparently she was not heavily loaded.

When first sighted she was drifting helplessly before the gale and flying distress signals; then suddenly she rolled over and plunged down headfirst.

LENT DIAMOND; HAS GLASS

Woman Causes Arrest on Substitution Charge.

Charging that he substituted a piece of glass for a $375 diamond in a ring which he borrowed from her, Mrs. Grace Kirkwood, a widow, of 1209 Dillon street, Wednesday caused the arrest of Peter Frank, who gives his address as Sixth and Market streets.

Mrs. Kirkwood told the police she and Frank were in a room adjoining Mooney's saloon at Thirteenth and Chestnut streets, when he admired the ring and asked her to let him wear it. When he returned it, she says, the ring had a glass setting. Frank denies the charge. A grand larceny information has been placed.

BIG GAMBLING GAME, A SIMPLE SLOT MACHINE

Detectives Get Handful of Peanuts and a Chip for Five Cents.

Chief of Police Young received an anonymous letter Wednesday telling all about "a big gambling game flourishing under the noses of the police in the saloon of J. F. Fritz at 927 Manchester avenue." Detectives Peter Wells and Breen were sent out to investigate.

When they returned to police headquarters, Detective Wells carried an envelope containing nine peanuts and Breen had a slip calling for "ten cents in trade at the bar."

"That's a nickel's worth," said Wells, as he exhibited the diminutive bag of goobers.

"See what I got for my nickel," said Breen, and he showed his trading slip. "And I got nine peanuts, too."

The detectives then explained that when they visited Fritz's saloon they found a peanut slot machine.

"You drop a nickel in the slot and get nine peanuts," said Wells. "Maybe you get a slip with the peanuts. Maybe it is only a blank slip and, then again, maybe it's a slip calling for trade. Maybe is calls for 5 cents' worth of trade and maybe it calls for a dollar's worth. Maybe the machine takes in $48 before it is empty and maybe all the slips and peanuts in it are worth about $15. Maybe it's a gamble and maybe it ain't. I told Fritz he could stay in his saloon, but that the machine would have to go. I understand there are about fifty such machines around town, but I don't know where they are located. If I find out they will have to go."

EMPRESS DOWAGER WEEPS AND ADMITS ABDICATION IS NEAR

Former Chinese Premier Agrees but Younger Princes Urge Throne Be Held.

NO DEFINITE CONCLUSION

Conference of the Imperial Clans Is Continued Until Next Friday.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—Further discussion of the question of the abdication of the Chinese throne has been adjourned until Friday, according to a news agency dispatch from Tien Tsin. The conference held today by the princes of the Imperial clan at the palace was inconclusive.

The Empress Dowager during the conference was keenly affected by her position. She wept bitterly as she informed the princes that she though the abdication of the throne had become imperative.

Prince Ching, the former Premier, assented to this view, but the younger princes took an attitude of strenous opposition to the passiveness of Prince Ching and urged the Empress Dowager to refuse to abdicate.

Death of Yuan Was to Have Been Signal for Uprising.

LONDON, Jan. 17.—The bomb thrower who attempted the life of Yuan Shi Kai yesterday has confessed that the assassination of the Premier was to have been the signal for a general rising in Peking, says a Peking dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, and the whole southeast portion of the city is now picketed with troops and a house-to-house search has resulted in the discovery of a bomb factory and the arrest of several men having bombs in their possession. There are persistent rumors of an attempt to poison the Empress Dowager, who, however, becoming suspicious, refused to partake of the fatal cup.

DOCUMENTS READ IN LEWIS SUIT FOR $750,000 DAMAGES

Attorneys Resume Introduction of Written Evidence in Case Against Post-Dispatch.

E. G. LEWIS ASSISTS THEM

When Lawyers Tire, He Takes Turn at Reading Matters to Go Into the Record.

HERMANN, Mo., Jan. 17.—The second day of the trial of the suit of E. G. Lewis against the Pulitzer Publishing Co. (the Post-Dispatch) for $750,000 damages on account of the publication of the findings of the postoffice inspectors who examined the People's United States Bank in 1905 opened with the resumption of documentary evidence intended to show the character and extent of the bank's operations.

The entire forenoon session was occupied with the reading of minutes of the board of directors of the People's United States Bank. Lewis assisted in the reading. The minutes revealed propositions received from the University Heights Realty and Development Co. for a loan of $610,000, and of the Lewis Publishing Co. for a loan of $400,000.

On the application of the realty company, the board after investigation of the value of the company's holdings, accepted. On the receipt subsequently of an opinion from Attorneys Barclay and Fauntleroy that the proposition was not acceptable until certain formalities had been complied with the board directed that the loan be temporarily made on notes of the realty company with existing mortgages as collateral.

Other Loans Called In.

The cashier, according to the minutes, had previously been directed to call in as many loans as might be necessary in order to make the loan to the realty company. The application of the Lewis Publishing Co. represented that the net earnings of the company exceeded $250,000 a year, that the company's assets exclusive of the Woman's Magazine and the Farm Journal was $2,000,000 and the value of the two publications was $2,000,000.

The loan of $40,000 asked for was to be used in paying off other banks and a debt of $200,000 to Lewis.

The Board of Directors, for the consolidation of their mutual interests, ordered the loan made. The minutes of May 30, 1905, showed a loan of $66,666.66 to be made to Frank J. Carlisle to be secured by stock of the St. Louis Star.

June 5 the order was rescinded because the stock had not been deposited. Objection of Attorney Green against the reading of minutes after June 1, 1905, the date of the publication on which the suit is filed, was overruled. The minutes of June 5, 1905, after the publication, contained the statement of Lewis in an advertisement that the deposits the day before had been larger than on any day for a month past.

Minutes of the meetings held during June, 1905, showed resignations of employes of Lewis as directors and the election in their stead of St. Louis business men.

A letter from Secretary of State Swanger was read directing that loans to the Lewis Publishing Co., the University Heights Realty and Development Co. and to Lewis himself be eliminated.

In his opening statement to the jury Tuesday afternoon Judge Shepard Barclay, for the plaintiff, said that the two per cent which, according to the inspector's reports, was paid to depositors when no dividend had been earned and the bank was insolvent, was the interest allowed by local banks in which the funds were deposited before the People's Bank was ready for business.

The act of Lewis in turning this interest over to the depositors was characterized as gracious and generous.

Attorney John Green, for the defense, told the jury that the evidence would disclose that between the date of the publication in the Post-Dispatch on which the suit is based and the date of the issuance of a fraud order, the business of the bank increased, showing that it was the fraud order and not the publication that affected the bank's business.

Lewis Reads for Lawyer.

The afternoon session was occupied with the presentation of documentary evidence. There was so much reading to be done that Lewis went to the aid of his lawyers and read some of the statements and depositions to the jury.

In the deposition of Fred Essen, former receiver for the bank, he stated that the bank was doing a good business when he took charge of it, with $200,000 on hand, and that he paid all obligations and 85 per cent to the stockholders.

Amusement was caused by the reading, among the list of loans, of several for which different articles of jewelry were collateral.

The deposition of W. C. Steigers, business manager of the Post-Dispatch, contained the statement that the circulation of the Post-Dispatch in June, 1905, the time of the publications complained of, was about 150,000 a day.

SASAKWA LADY HELPED

After Losing Heart She Tried Cardui, the Woman's Tonic, and Is Now All Right.

"I am almost unable to describe my experience," says Mrs. Beckey Barrett, of this place. "I suffered so for over two years, with womanly troubles, and had such pains, that I was unable to stand on my feet.

My husband called in five different doctors, but they could not help me. They gave me up unless I would be operated on.

I took different medicines, but found no relief, and I got out of heart.

At last, I commenced to use Cardui, and I am glad to say I am very much better. I have taken five bottles of Cardui, and I can now do my work all right—all my housework—and can walk two miles at a time, easily.

I feel like a new woman. I will always recommend Cardui to all sick and suffering women, for I know that Cardui saved my life."—Sasakwa, Okla.

The best way to cure womanly troubles is to help nature, by taking Cardui.

Girl's Diamonds Vanish at Washington University;

Miss MARIE GEORGIA SULLIVAN...

REMBRANDT PORTRAIT.

Miss Georgia Sullivan's $400 Rings Lost—Students Form Protective Association.

Following the report that two valuable rings belonging to Miss Georgia Sullivan had disappeared at Washington University, where she is a student, residents of the men's dormitories have formed a secret protective association with a view of stopping pilfering at the school.

Miss Sullivan left her rings on a washstand Friday evening and forgot them. She returned to the university Saturday and had the authorities post a notice of her loss, but no trace of the rings was found.

Room Open Only to Women.

One of the rings was set with a 2-karat diamond, which her father, J. F. Sullivan of 5173 Raymond avenue, had given to her mother many years ago. It was a present to the daughter on her eighteenth birthday, which came about three months ago.

The other was set with an emerald surrounded by four diamonds. The intrinsic value of each is placed at $200. The room where the rings were lost is open only to women.

Miss Sullivan was graduated in 1910 from Visitation Convent and was a maid of honor the same year at the Veiled Prophet's ball. She is a member of the Pi Beta Phi sorority.

Chancellor Houston told a Post-Dispatch reporter that Washington University has been more nearly free from theft and pilfering than most schools of its size, and yet the loss reported by Miss Sullivan, though partly due to carelessness, was evidently the work of a dishonest person.

Young men at the university report petty thefts have been committed continually in the university dormitories and cloak rooms. Not even small change can be left unguarded, they declare.

In forming their protective association, they have to prevent a condition like that of last year, when pilfering at the university became so exasperating private detectives had to be employed.

WOMAN CALLS UNION STATION FOR PLUMBER

Thinks "It's Just Awful" When Bureau of Information Is Unable to Send One.

Arthur Brauner, clerk in the information bureau at Union Station, answered a telephone call at 6:45 a. m. Wednesday, expecting to hear somebody ask what time the 7:30 train departs. Instead, however, the voice of a woman who evidently was in distress struck his well-trained ear with this appeal:

"For goodness sage, send me a plumber, quick!"

Brauner explained that he was in the information bureau at the station and not very well supplied with plumbers at that moment.

"I know where you are, all right," said the woman, "but I want you to find a plumber anyway and send him to me. I've been trying all morning to get one. The water pipes are broken and are flooding the house."

Again Brauner explained that the bureau knew all about trains but nothing about plumbers.

"Well, I think that's just awful," the distressed one complained. "Do you want to see me drowned?" The woman then hung up the receiver.

$5000 FOR DEATH OF GIRL

A verdict for $5000 on account of the death of Emma Dallwitz, 14 years old, was given by a jury in Judge McQuillin's court Tuesday against the Bell Oil Co. The girl was killed when a tank car containing gasoline exploded in the yards of the oil company April 22, 1911.

Six others were killed, including the Dallwitz girl's parents. The suit was brought by the administrator of her estate.

REDUCTION URGED IN $12,000 LEWIS RECEIVERS' BILL

Special Master Thinks Estimate From Aug. 3 to Nov. 16 Is Too Liberal.

Special Master Walter D. Coles, in his report Wednesday on the report of expenses filed by Matt G. Reynolds as receiver for the E. G. Lewis properties, recommends that nothing be paid to John H. Williams, who was in charge of the Lewis reorganization work and who, Reynolds suggested, should be rewarded for services to the receiver. He also expresses the opinion that Reynolds' expenses should be reduced. The report was filed in the Federal court.

The Reynolds' report, filed some time ago, covers the period from Aug. 3 to Nov. 16, 1911, when the various proceedings against the Lewis concerns were merged under a blanket bankruptcy proceeding. He asked $3000 for his own services, $1500 each for Eugene H. Angert and the law firm of Stern & Haberman, and $990 for William L. Morsey, receiver's agent. He also suggested that Williams be paid whatever the court saw fit, if it found that he had been of service to the receiver.

It has been roughly estimated that the total expenses of the receivership from Aug. 3 to Nov. 16 were about $12,000.

Coles reports that he finds Williams' services were not given in connection with the receivership in any way.

"During the period covered," says the report, "the receiver has had in his pay a number of employes at substantial salaries, and for that reason his expenses have been unusually large. As the receiver has now completed his inventory, and is not carrying on an active business, but is merely charged with the duty of conserving and liquidating the asets of the defendant companies, the special master is of the opinion that his expenses can be and should be substantially reduced."

DYER SETS ASIDE $445,000 FINDING

Judge Dyer in the United States District Court Wednesday set aside the recommendation of Henry H. Denison, referee, giving to the Wolf Bros. Shoe Co. of Cincinnati $445,311.55 damages against the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., for alleged infringement of trade mark, and awarded Wolf Bros. $1 nominal damages. Judge Dyer also assessed the costs, about $7500, against the plaintiffs.

The court ordered additional fees of $2000 paid to Denison, who already has received $3100 for his work in the case. The suit was filed in December, 1906. Wolf Bros. charged that the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co., in advertising the "American Lady" shoe had infringed on the patent rights of Wolf Bros.' "American Girl" shoe. Wolf Bros. lost the suit and appealed. The United States Circuit Court of Appeals reversed the case and remanded it.

THINK OF IT

Stop and think a moment about that cough that bothers you so much.

You must have been run-down when you got it, for if you had been perfectly strong your system would have thrown it off in two or three days.

Take our advice about this—what you really need is to build up your strength and enrich your blood; then the cough will disappear. We know it.

Carl Schultz of Coney Island, N. Y., says: "It only took two bottles of your delicious cod liver and iron preparation, Vinol, to put me on my feet again when I was all run down with a severe cough and cold which had lasted two months. I am recommending it to all my friends."

Vinol is the greatest strength creator and body builder we have ever seen, and besides its value in healing up weak, sore lungs, it gives new strength and vitality to all weak, pale, run-down people. We guarantee Vinol to do this and give back your money if you are not satisfied. Chester Kent & Co., Chemists. For sale by Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, Mo.

COMMON GARDEN SAGE RESTORES GRAY AND FADED HAIR TO ITS NATURAL COLOR.

The old idea of using sage for darkening the hair is again coming in vogue. Our grandmothers used to have dark, glossy hair at the age of 75, while our mothers have white hair before they are 50. Our grandmothers used to make a "sage tea" and apply it to their hair. The tea made their hair soft and glossy, and gradually restored the natural color.

One objection to using such a preparation was the trouble of making it, especially as it had to be made every two or three days, on account of souring quickly. This objection has been overcome, and by asking almost any first-class druggist for Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy the public can get a superior preparation of sage, with the admixture of sulphur, another valuable remedy for hair and scalp troubles. Daily use of this preparation will not only quickly restore the color of the hair, but will also stop the hair from falling out and make it grow.

Get a bottle from your druggist today. Use it and see for yourself how quickly dandruff goes and gray hairs vanish.

This preparation is offered to the public at 50 cents a bottle and is recommended and sold by all druggists.

BACK COVERED WITH MASS OF PIMPLES

Burned and Itched So He Could Hardly Stand It. Tried Medicines, Etc., Nearly 3 Years. In Eternal Misery. Started Using Cuticura Remedies. Now Has No Sign of Skin Disease.

Corbin, Kan. — "My troubles began along in the summer in the hottest weather and took the form of small eruptions and itching and a kind of smarting pain. It took me mostly all over my back and kept getting worse until finally my back was covered with a mass of pimples which would burn and itch at night so that I could hardly stand it. This condition kept getting worse and worse until my back was a solid mass of big sores which would break open and run. My underclothing would be a clot of blood.

"I tried various blood medicines and other remedies and salves for nearly three years and I was not getting any benefit. It seemed I was in eternal misery and could not sleep on my back or lean back on a chair. I was finally given a set of the Cuticura Remedies by my brother who recommended them to me very highly. I started using the Cuticura Remedies and inside of two weeks I could see and feel a great relief. I kept on using Cuticura Soap, Ointment and also the Resolvent, and in about three or four months' time my back was nearly cured and I felt like a new being. Now I am in good health and no sign of any skin diseases and I am fully satisfied that Cuticura Remedies are the best ever made for skin diseases. I will always recommend them to anybody who will use according to directions. I would not be without them." (Signed) W. A. Armstrong, May 26, 1911.

For eczemas, rashes, itchings, irritations, inflammations and other unwholesome conditions of the skin and scalp as well as for every purpose of the toilet, bath and nursery, Cuticura Soap and Ointment are indispensable. Sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. book. Address "Cuticura," Dept. T. Boston. Tender-faced men should use Cuticura Soap Shaving Stick.

QUIT CALOMEL!

Thousands Are Turning From This Dangerous Drug.

A Safe Vegetable Substitute Is Olive Tablets for the Liver.

Dr. F. M. Edwards, a prominent physician of Portsmouth, Ohio, has discovered a new laxative and liver toner in a combination of vegetable materials, mixed with olive oil, which is in effect almost exactly like the old and untrustworthy calomel, except that there are none of the bad after effects of calomel.

Dr. Edwards has long been a foe of calomel, though he recognized its value along with its dangers.

His distrust of the uncertain drug eventually started him years ago towards experiments with the view of discovering a substitute, and he is today in possession of the long-sought-for combination, which is in the shape of a little sugar-coated, olive-oil colored tablet.

The results of fifteen years' experience and practice are embodied in these marvelous little tablets.

They are called Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, and their effect on the liver has been the means of relief to many of Dr. Edwards' regular patients as well as to thousands of others who have suffered and were afraid of calomel.

They are gentle in their action, yet always effective. They bring about that exuberance of spirit, that natural buoyancy which should be enjoyed by everyone, by toning up the liver and clearing the system of harmful impurities.

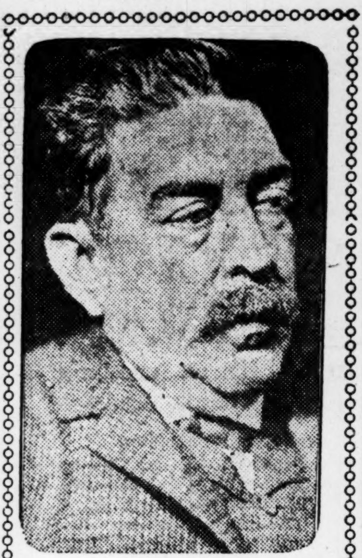
CHILD SUBJECTS WILL ILLUSTRATE MEDICAL LECTURES

The science and practice of improving the capacities of defective children will be the subject of a series of lectures and demonstrations under auspices of the St. Louis Medical Society. The first program will be presented at the society's auditorium next Saturday night. There will be others Feb. 10 and March 3.

Invitations have been sent out to many persons interested in the subjects presented, including Archbishop Glennon, Rabbi Harrison, superintendents, principals and teachers in the public schools and members of welfare and social service organizations.

In each case the lecture will be followed by a demonstration in which a child will be used as an object lesson. Dr. W. E. Sauer will lecture on defects due to nasal obstruction, with demonstrations by Dr. Eugene T. Senseney. Dr. C. Armin Gundelach will lecture on and demonstrate what can be done in educating children who have speech defects. These will all be features of Saturday night's program.

CUBAN EXECUTIVE WHOM TAFT WARNED



PRESIDENT GOMEZ.

CUBA WARNED IF U. S. TROOPS LAND THEY WILL STAY

Diplomatic Note From Washington Gives Gomez Final Chance to Suppress Disorders Caused by Demand of Veterans for All Civil Service Offices.

TREATY GIVES THE RIGHT TO INTERFERE

Federal Government Can Land 10,000 Soldiers in 10 Days and 19 Battleships and Some Small Boats Are at Guantanamo.

By Wire From the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—A third and possibly last intervention by the United States in Cuba is imminent. President Gomez has received a diplomatically worded warning, as a result of a political condition in Cuba which has been brewing for more than a year.

Secretary of State Knox laid the situation before the President, who put it before the Cabinet. The result was the sending of a warning note to President Gomez, which concludes:

"The President of the United States looks to the President and Government of Cuba to prevent a threatened situation, which would compel the Government of the United States, much against its desires, to consider what measures it must take in pursuance of the obligations of its relations with Cuba."

Armed Intervention Meant.

The obligation to which the note refers was made plain by the State Department to mean an armed intervention by this Government.

At the time of the last intervention in 1905, President Roosevelt said the next time the United States went into Cuba with troops it would go to stay. Since then, on occasions of reported outbreaks in Cuba, President Taft has made it plain to the Cuban Government that the next time the United States was called on to send troops to the island these troops would remain and that the Stars and Stripes would be the Cuban national flag.

The right of the United States to enter Cuba is granted in the treaty of 1903. It reads:

"That the Government of Cuba consents that the United States may exercise the right to intervene for the preservation of Cuban independence, the maintenance of a government adequate for the protection of life, property and individual liberty and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba, imposed by the treaty of Paris of the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the Government of the United States."

Veterans Demand Offices.

Gen. Nunez and Col. Aranda, after the establishment of Cuban independence, organized an association of the veterans of the revolts with Spain. The trouble grows out of the demands, accompanied by threats, of the veterans for all the civil service offices, regardless of law. Their actions are regarded as alarming.

Major-General Wood has enough troops near the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf of Mexico to have 5000 men in Cuba in five days, and 10,000 in 10 days. There are 19 battleship and several small vessels at Guantanamo, Cuba. From the battleships 1500 marines could be landed. Strewn along the Atlantic coast are 3100 additional marines who could be sent to Cuba in 10 days.

CUBA IS FEARFUL OF INTERVENTION

Tranquility Prevails, but Disorders Are Expected in the Rural Districts.

HAVANA, Cuba., Jan. 17.—Absolute tranquility reigned in Havana today, in spite of the shock of the announcement in the morning papers of a possible impending intervention by the United States in Cuban affairs.

The meager reports received from the interior do not give any indications of trouble, but some fears are expressed in Havana that disturbances are likely to occur in the rural districts, and more especially in the provinces of Oriente and Pinar del Rio, when the news becomes more generally circulated.

The newspapers confine themselves to the publication of the text of Secretary Knox's note and interviews on the subject with various officials. There is no editorial comment except in El Dia, which expresses the opinion that no physical intervention is intended by the United States which, however, adopted other and efficacious means to compel compliance with the laws and prevent a breach of the peace.

Commenting on Secretary Knox's note. Gen. Freyre Andrade, formerly Secretary of the Interior, said:

"It is a sad blow to all good Cubans, but we must hope it will sound a note of warning. All must join in a patriotic effort to do their utmost to save the country."

So sudden was the action taken by the State Department at Washington that Gen. Manuel Sanguilly, Secretary of State, last night, absolutely refused to believe that intervention was threatened until some hours after Secretary Knox's note had been presented to President Gomez. He later admitted that the note had been received, but declined to make any comment on it.

The meeting of the Council of the Veterans' Association, which was called last night, adjourned at an early hour this morning. No line of policy was adopted at the meeting, which was sparsely attended, the Conservative section of the veterans being conspicuously absent.

No hour has yet been fixed for the conference of President Gomez, the leaders of the political parties and the veterans. It will probably occur this afternoon.

TAFT WOULD SAVE MILLIONS BY HIS EFFICIENCY PLAN

President in Message to Congress Asks for $250,000 to Continue Commission Which Is Formulating Scheme for Putting Government on a Business Basis.

CIVIL SERVICE IS A PART OF SCHEME

Weeding Out of Bureaus, Lopping Off of Political Appointees and Elimination of Needless Expense Advocated by Executive.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—How the people of the United States may have saved for them millions of dollars annually in the operation of their governmental machinery was outlined by President Taft today in a message to Congress on "Economy and Efficiency in the Government Service."

"What the Government does with nearly $1,000,000,000 each year," said the President, "is as of as much concern to the average citizen as is the manner of obtaining this amount of money for the public use."

Probably the most radical proposal advanced by the President in today's message was that all administrative officers of the Government in the departments at Washington and in the field be put under the civil service; be removed from the influence of politics, and that their terms of office be not limited as at present to four years. Such officers should not be appointed by the President with the necessity of Senate confirmation, he said, but upon merit.

Economy in Merit System.

"The extension of the merit system to these officers, and a needed readjustment of salaries," he said, "will have important effects in securing greater economy and efficiency. The view that these various offices are to be filled as a result of political consideration has for its consequence the necessity that the President and members of Congress devote to the matter of patronage time which they should devote to questions of policy and administration."

The President did not attempt to explain in detail the work of the economy and efficiency commission created by act of Congress 18 months ago. He sketched the outlines of improvements that he said could be made in Government service; declared that they would effect a saving of many millions of dollars, and asked that Congress continue the commission by granting an appropriation of $200,000 with $50,000 for printing its reports.

"The initial work," said President Taft, "has been well done. The inquiry with its constructive measures is well under way. The work should now be presented with vigor and receive the financial support necessary to make it effective during the next fiscal year. Every economy which has been or will be effected through changes in organization or method will inure to the benefit of the Government and of the people in incerasing measure through the years which follow.

Problem Always Present.

"I am convinced that results which are really worth while cannot be secured, or, at least, can be secured only in small part, through the prosecution at irregular intervals of special inquiries bearing on particular services or features of administration. The benefits thus obtained must be but temporary. The problem of good administration is not one that can be solved at one time. It is a continuously present one."

In many ways, the President informed Congress, a decrease in the cost of Government might be assured. There is need, he said, of reorganization of the Government departments, a consolidation and a weeding out of bureaus that overlap in their work; scores of "local offices" throughout the country should be abolished and hundreds of political appointees who do but little work should be taken off the payroll, and there should be an improvement in the personnel of Government employes through the introduction of the civil service in practically every field; business methods should be employed by Uncle Sam just as big corporations use them, a modern system of accounting and reporting should be adopted, and, last of all, the Economy Commission should be continued in its work

The Treasury Department, Taft showed, looked after the nation's finances and the life-saving service. The commission, he said, had recommended the abolition of the revenue cutter service, which would mean a saving of $1,000,000 a year.

Opposes a Fixed Term.

"The greatest economy and efficiency and the benefits which may accrue from the President's devoting his time to the work which is most worth while," said the President, "may be assured only by treating all the distinctly administrative officers in the department at Washington and in the field in the same way as inferior officers have been treated. The time has come when all these officers should be placed in the classified service. The time has also come when those provisions of law which give to those officers a fixed term of years should be repealed. So long as a fixed term of years is provided by law, the question of reappointment of an officer, no matter how efficiently he may have performed his duties, will inevitably be raised periodically. So long as appointments to these offices must be confirmed by the Senate, and so long as appointments to them must be made every four years, just so long will it be impossible to provide a force of employes with a reasonably permanent tenure who are qualified by reason of education and training to do the best work."

Giving examples of excessive Government expenditure along cetrain lines the President told Congress that in one department it cost $5.84 per thousand to handle incoming mail and in another department $84.40 per thousand. For handling outgoing mail one department expended $5.94 per thousand; another $69.89. Either one department paid too much or the other not enough, he said. In travel alone the Government expends about $12,000,000 a year. Definite tests, he pointed out, have shown that a saving in this item alone of a little over half of one cent a mile probably could be effected.

Some Ways of Saving.

Through the introduction of labor saving machinery, through the elimination of unnecessary copy work, by cutting down needless expense in the distribution of public documents and in many other ways could millions be saved each year. The President urged the adoption of the "budget system," which would bring before Congress, the press and the people of the country not only the proposed expenditures of the Government, but its revenue.

"The United States is the only great nation whose government is operated without a budget," he said.

Later, the President declared, he intends to send to Congress a plan for the retirement of civil service employes on pensions which will safeguard the Government interest and yet provide for their old age.

HARPER'S DROPS WILSON'S BOOM AT HIS REQUEST

Governor Tells Editor of Weekly That Publication Is Hurting His Chances.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The following announcement appears at the head of the editorial page of Harper's Weekly in its issue today:

"TO OUR READERS.

"We make the following reply to many inquiries from readers of Harper's Weekly:

"The name of Woodrow Wilson as our candidate for President was taken down from the head of these columns in response to a statement made to us directly by Gov. Wilson, to the effect that our support was affecting his candidacy injuriously.

"The only course left open to us, in simple fairness to Mr. Wilson, no less than in consideration of our own self-respect, was to cease to advocate his nomination.

"We make this explanation with great reluctance and deepest regret. But we cannot escape the conclusion that the very considerable numbers of our readers who have co-operated earnestly and loyally in advancing a movement which was inaugurated solely in the hope of rendering a high public service, are clearly entitled to this information."

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis and its suburbs is greater than that of ALL other English Dailies COMBINED.

2300 MEN TO BE PUT BACK TO WORK

The National Enameling and Stamping Co.'s plant at Second and Destrehan streets will resume operations next week, giving employment to 800 men, according to Thomas K. Niedringhaus. The Granite City plant, in which several departments are temporarily closed for repairs, will also resume work with its full force of 3000 men next week, Niedringhaus said Wednesday.

The plant at Second and Destrehan streets has been shut down since Nov. 4, except in a few departments, in which 200 men are employed. Lack of orders is given as the reason for reducing the force. Many of the men have been out of employment since that time.

About 1500 men are employed in the Granite City plant in departments kept running while the annual overhauling of the plant is being made.

GAS IN YOUR STOMACH CANNOT EXIST

With Baalmann's Gas Tablets. This is the most valuable prescription ever put into a bottle. We have never seen or heard of a case of Gas in the Stomach or Bowels which Baalmann's Gas Tablets have ever failed to effect a cure. We know that this sounds absurd; ridiculous and preposterous. MAN JEALOUS OF OWN SON; WIFE GETS A DIVORCE

He Also Resented Attentions to Woman of All Her Relatives, She Says.

ONCE FEIGNED SUICIDE

Mrs. Tenny Declares Man Often Threatened to Kill Himself and Finally Left Her.

Mrs. Margaret Nash Tenney testified Wednesday in her divorce suit at Clayton that her husband, Fred D. Tenney, was jealous of their son Rollin, now 15 years old, and of all relatives, male or female. She got a decree by default and was awarded custody of the boy. Tenney, she said, is in San Francisco. Mrs. Tenney resides in Webster Groves.

Tenney's jealousy was so extreme that it often prompted him to feign suicide and make threats of killing himself, Mrs. Tenney and other witnesses said. Mrs. F. M. Grehl, sister of Mrs. Tenney and wife of the East St. Louis manager for the Pabst Brewing Co., testified that she once heard Tenney breathing heavily in his room and on entering found him lying apparently in a coma.

On the floor lay three letters, addressed "To My Wife," "To My Mother" and "To the Coroner," and a small bottle marked "Poison." The letters gave directions as to the disposal of Tenney's property, but since the bottle was found to contain nothing more virulent than coffee, the directions were not followed, Mrs. Grehl said.

Mrs. Tenney said that on one occasion when she and her husband were returning in a crowded car from an amusement park he became so jealous of a woman friend with whom she was sitting that he roughly pulled the woman from the seat and took it himself.

He also had a habit of calling his son by telephone, she said, and telling him that he must be a good boy if he never saw his father again.

The Tenneys were married in Memphis, May 30, 1893, and came to St. Louis from Texas in 1907, residing at 4519 West Pine boulevard. They separated June 15, 1908, when Tenney left in anger and did not return, Mrs. Tenney said.

Mrs. Tenney appeared in court handsomely gowned.

CONGRESS TO BE IN SESSION TILL AUGUST

That Is Said to Be One Reason Why Democrats Gave Convention to Baltimore.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—Both Democratic and Republican leaders in the House of Representatives today agreed there was little likelihood of Congress adjourning before August. It was said this probability largely influenced the Democrats in choosing Baltimore as the national convention city.

The Republicans will have a more awkward situation to deal with in holding their convention in Chicago with Congress in session. The condition of Congress being in session at national convention periods has not existed since 1892.

STORAGE HOUSE IN NEW YORK BURNS, LOSS $1,250,000

Total of $10,000,000 Worth of Merchandise Menaced by New York Blaze.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The seven-story warehouse of the Terminal Storage Co., occupying a city block, near the North River front between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets and containing merchandise valued at more than $10,000,000, was swept by fire early today. The fire was discovered a few minutes after midnight. It was not under control until 6:45 o'clock, when the loss was estimated at $1,250,000.

Five alarms, sounded in quick succession, summoned to the scene practically every available piece of fire fighting apparatus in Manhattan, and this was reinforced by fire boats.

The Terminal Storage Co.'s warehouse was of brick and concrete and was regarded as one of the most modern buildings in that part of the city. It was the largest structure of its kind in New York. While the building itself was fireproof and protected by fire walls, sprinklers and all other modern fire prevention apparatus, its contents, consisting mostly of goods awaiting delivery to the big New York department stores, was of the most inflammable nature.

The building was divided into four sections by fire walls two feet thick. One of the sections was controlled by John Wanamaker and contained merchandise consigned to him. Another section was rented by Gimbel Bros., while the two remaining sections has as tenants nearly fifty smaller firms.

The fire started in the Wanamaker compartment and worked its way through the fire wall to the Gimbel section. Both these sections were destroyed but the fire walls between them and the other compartments held firm and the loss is therefore confined to the two firms named.

There was no loss of life, but two firemen were seriously injured.

Skyscraper Near Equitable Building Has Stubborn Fire.

A stubborn fire on the ground floor of the 22-story building occupied by the Knickerbocker Trust Co. at Broadway and Exchange place gave the financial district some moments of trepidation while the warehouse fire was on. The blaze was within a few hundred feet of the Stock Exchange, but was under control before it could spread beyond the building where it started. The loss will not exceed $100,000.

The Knickerbocker company's building is a more modern structure than the ruined Equitable Building—which was only a block to the north on Broadway—and the steel walls and concrete floors held the fire until a flood of water and chemicals gradually gained the mastery.

Osaki Has Second Fire; Loss in First $15,000,000.

OSAKI, Japan, Jan. 17.—Fire broke out again last evening in the district of the city, but it was of much less serious nature than which occurred in the morning. flames were extinguished before night.

The damage occasioned by conflagration amounts to Thirty thousand homeless being provided with shelter in the lic buildings of the city.

The legitimate PAID circulation of the Post-Dispatch in St. Louis its suburbs is greater than ALL other St. Louis Dailies BINED.

Rheumatism Advice

Prominent Doctor's Best Prescription Easily Mixed at Home.

"From your druggist get one ounce of Toris compound (in original sealed package) and one ounce of syrup of Sarsaparilla compound. Take these two ingredients home and put them into a half pint of good whiskey. Shake the bottle and take a tablespoonful before each meal and at bed time." This is said to be the quickest and best remedy known to the medical profession for rheumatism and backache. Good results come after the first dose. If your druggist does not have Toris compound in stock he will get it for you in a few hours from his wholesale house. Don't be influenced to take a patent medicine instead of this. Insist on having the genuine Toris compound in the original one ounce, sealed, yellow package. Hundreds of the worst cases were cured here by this prescription last winter.—ADV.

INGLE OF COIN NEEDED TO MAKE KONETCHY SMILE

's Money, Not Artistic Temperament, Keeps Roger's First Sacker in Game.

E PREFERS CARDINALS

ut Outlaws Making a Noise Like "Dough" Can Always Get a Hearing.

Cardinal fans are at a loss to know hy Ed Koney's name always is assoited with the "outlaw" leagues that ake their annual appearances on the aseball horizon. Sanguine supporters the Robison Field cadets are beging to wonder whether Koney is satfied with his berth.

This question was put to Koney, Tuesy. Hearken to the 18-karat chatter the de luxe guardian of the initial hion:

'm perfectly satisfied with my job the Cardinals. I'm perfectly satisd to work for Roger. I'm perfectly tisfied with St. Louis as a place to e in and a place to work in; but ver for a minute figure that I'm in aseball because of my artistic temperaent. There's no market price on that. the game, love to play it, but I'm ying baseball because, up to the ht time, I have been getting a bigyearly allowance out of it than any kind of a business I have tackled. how me where I can make more ey in any other business and I'll t baseball so fast a moving picture chine won't 'get' me in the act. I'll anything where I can legitimately e more money. And if the Columa League can show me where it is my advantage to play with it, I m ny at the rathole.

Would Love to Be Fined.

see where someone says that I can be for even talking to the promoters of outlaw league. Now right here I want on record as saying that they can try game as soon as they please. All those who run the National Commission, and big bodies of baseball, are doing it e they can make money at it. Every ate in the big leagues and the little es is there to make money. So am I. they think they can keep me from ancing myself, why, let them come on. open for engagements; will fight at weights.

My greatest ambition would be to see Cardinals win the pennant. I say that from a selfish motive, but rather from of civic and self-pride. Winning a t would mean more money for me. I'd like to win it even if there wasn't money in it. However, that lets me Anything else I do I want to get paid

WRAY'S COLUMN

ALL HE LACKS IS A DOLLAR SIGN.

TEN MILLION is certainly a rich name for any baseball player to flaunt. If you look at his cognomen this way: 10,000,000, it's a dead certainty that in getting the Northwestern League star Roger has drawn a lot of blanks.

HOW ABOUT DOUBLEHEADERS?

KING COLE is certainly a merry old soul. He called for his pipe and when he got through smoking he announced that he would not lose a single game for the Cubs this season.

HALF-AND-HALF MEASURES.

NO half measures for Jack Doyle. Rather than let a position as umpire in the International League interfere with his life work, he has accepted a position in a brewery.

MAY PUT IT IN HIS WILL.

CHUBBY Chawles Murphy is the great kidder of them all. He promises a $1,000,000 park to Chicago fans, but adds that he will not start work on it until he sees what effect the sun and storms have on the concrete of New York's big baseball palace. As some of the concrete work, built when J. Caesar was the Ban Johnson of Rome, still stands intact, the Chicagoese may order another round and prepare for a long wait.

NOT IN OUR SET.

THERE is no truth to the rumor that organized baseball is going to ditch the Panama League. But it may hand it the Culebra cut.

MORE DOGS IN THE MANGER.

POOR George Stovall! With three or four chances to prosper, there is still no berth for him. Too many clubs want him for any to get him, is the way the situation looks to an Irishman.

ALL READY WITH THE KNOCK.

THE Cleveland club may finish fifth or first, according to various estimates of its ability. If it doesn't beat third place by the middle of July, Harry Davis can make up his mind to get acquainted with the sound of Stovall's name.

STOVALL STILL POPULAR.

DAVIS occupies a very delicate situation and unless he makes good he is likely to hear more contumely than is usually dealt to the manager who fails. Stovall made himself very popular in Cleveland. He assembled the good units of a wrecked club and put the team on its feet.

He finished third with a club that at one time seemed bent on challenging the Browns' right to last place. In his heydey he was informed that Harry Davis had been signed as the 1912 leader.

The reason has never been made known. But to the gentlemen hanging on the palings a-peekin' in, it seems bad policy to drop a man of known ability for one untried as a leader.

Davis' troubles arise from a prevailing opinion to this effect.

NAPS TOO STRONG TO FAIL.

HOWEVER, there's not much doubt that the Cleveland team will make good if Vean Gregg comes to work with the same wonderful southpaw. Backed by the batting of Jackson and Lajoie, the Naps need not fear to make some sort of showing, even with a new hand at the helm.

ENTIRELY OUT OF PLACE.

PUTTING Peoria into a circuit with Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit and other important places is about as logical as raising Jack Johnson to the peerage.

NOT AT ALL MERCURIAL.

THE temperature for the past week reminds us that we can warm up a zero temperature artificially, but a below-zero batting average is not amenable to treatment. N. B.—We refer you to Rube Waddell.

DULL FOR THE RUNNERS.

CHARLESTON should have been a great place for the rink heroes during the recent postponement of its running meet. A thousand skates were idle there.

Geyer, Cardinal Relief Pitcher, Is On Crutches

Blood Poisoning Almost Ends Baseball Career of Roger's Second String Star.

Jakie Geyer, the Cardinal flinger, who once had the distinction of being the highest-priced recruit on the local National League club's roster, narrowly missed an attack of blood poisoning as a result of having his foot pierced by a rusty nail, according to a letter received by Ed Koney Tuesday. Geyer is wintering in the wilds of Northern Minnesota, where he owns a strip of timber land.

Geyer has been hunting all winter, shooting for big game in the snowbound regions. He is accompanied by Josh Clarke and a few other ball tossers. About two weeks ago he stepped on a nail and the wound festered. He was far from medical aid and in a pretty precarious position when a physician arrived. He has been on crutches ever since, but tells Koney that he expects to be up and about on both feet before another week. He has been declared out of danger by the doctor.

Geyer Cost Cards $4500.

With the exception of Bresnahan, who approximated as high a price as the much-talked-of Marty O'Toole, if all the assets that the late M. Stanley Robison turned loose to get the Duke were accurately totaled, Geyer cost the local club more than any other man on the roster. In round figures just $4500 was paid for Geyer to the Columbus club. His first year here Geyer was useless because of a lame shoulder. He rounded to last season and won his spurs as a relief flinger. Towards the fag end of the season he was taking his regular turn on the hillock and prospering. Next season he is looked upon as a regular.

PEORIA IS INVITED TO JOIN "OUTLAWS"

PEORIA, Ill., Jan. 17.—Peoria, which already has a team in the Three-I League, has been invited to become a member of the new Columbian League. James T. Powers, president of that organization, was here yesterday, conferring with Secretary Wheeler of the Association of Commerce, and others, regarding the placing of an "outlaw" team here.

Before leaving here, President Powers said he would make his next stop at Cleveland, where the Columbian League also expects to place a team.

Can Attell Give K. O. Brown 12 Pounds and Win?

That's the Question All New York Is Trying to Answer Now.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Only one more day and the long-talked-of bout between Knockout Brown and Abe Attell will be staged. Both boys will end their training today. Both are anxious to get into action, and when they face each other at the National Sporting Club tomorrow night the crowd should witness a contest full of action from the first to the tenth round—provided they go the limit.

There are many fans who believe that not even Attell, champion that he is, can give K. O. the weight he is conceding and win. They say that Brown will be declared the winner, for they figure that all Brown has to do is to get one of his terrific southpaw punches in the champion's midsection and that from then on, so far as cleverness is concerned, they will be on an equal basis. Brown's punch is known to be terrific, and if Attell runs full tilt against it he is sure to drop.

On the other hand the supporters of the champion claim that he will outbox the Dutchman from the first to the tenth round; that his lightning left hand and his wonderful shifts and his ring generalship will carry him to sure victory.

Gibbons vs. Denning.

Two boxers who are equally matched in weight and science are matched for 10 rounds at the Fairmont A. C. on Jan. 23. They are Mike Gibbons, the sensational welterweight of St. Paul, and Jack Denning, the scientific boxer of New York.

This should be a first-class battle. Both have won with such ease over many of their opponents that it is a case of "Greek meeting Greek" when they clash.

That the fans appreciate what a fine exhibition of boxing this should be is shown by the great demand for reservations. Billy Gibson is preparing for a record "house."

CASTLEWOOD MEMBERS ENLARGE CLUBHOUSE

The following officers were elected at the annual meeting of the Castlewood Hunting and Fishing Club: Charles Meyer, president; Dave Anslin, vice-president; Joe Junod, secretary, and John H. Maschmeyer, treasurer. John H. Maschmeyer, Al Boerner and Jesse McKean form the board of trustees. It was decided to enlarge the club's quarters at Castlewood, Mo., and have the alterations completed for the spring opening. The treasurer's report showed the club to be in good financial condition.

WASHINGTON MEN WILL HAVE BUSY SEASON ON TRACK

Most Pretentious Schedule in Years Has Been Arranged for Pikeway Athletes.

By CLARENCE F. LLOYD.

The Washington University track team this season faces the most pretentious schedule it has attempted in years. The team is booked to compete in at least four big meets and one relay carnival.

To the students this list of dates will be a pleasing surprise, as from present indications the myrtle and maroon track squad, like the football and basket ball teams, seems to be the most formidable that the Pikeway men could boast of in years.

The athletes have been late in getting ou for early training. That's because of the cold weather. The cross-country men have been held back for the same reason and it has been deemed advisable to keep the men off the indoor track.

April will see a relay team in action. The quartet will compete in the Missouri Valley Conference Carnival in Des Moines. Then will follow the annual W. U. field day games. This is set May 4, which also is the tentative date of the Missouri Athletic Club marathon race. Dr. Ewerhardt, athletic director, dislikes the idea of having local athletic conflicts and some other date may be selected.

Conference Games Set for May 25.

May 11 is the date set for a dual meet with Drake. A week later another dual meet will be scheduled, but the opponent for the Pikeway team has not yet been selected. Several colleges have written for a meeting and according to Dr. Ewerhardt some strong opponent will be selected. The Missouri Valley Conference meet is to be held in Des Moines, May 25. Washington will have a full representation in these games.

A dual meeting with the Missouri Tigers has been suggested, but because the Columbians in recent years have invariably outclassed the Pikers, it has been deemed advisable to stage meets with other teams until Washington is able to build a stronger team.

There will be activity in other branches of sport. The Missouri Valley Conference tennis championship is scheduled in Columbia, Mo., May 16-17, and racquet experts from the Pikeway will compete. It has always been the custom for Missouri and Washington to stage a dual tennis meet and this will go on the schedule card without a doubt.

Dr. Ewerhardt says that the annual M. V. C. cross-country championship will be held under Washington's auspices in St. Louis this year. He has suggested a date in November, and says the local institution is sure to get the sanction.

Bert Kerr won the eighth successive game in the Amateur Billiard League for the Kansas City team by defeating Albert Garneaux of Brooklyn, 50—34. The winner had two high runs of four.

Richardson trimmed Schnurmacher, 100—90, and won his eleventh successive match in the Business Men's straight-rail tournament at the Grand. The defeat shoved Schnurmacher into fifth place.

A MOVING PICTURE, IN 3 REELS.

Reel One.

The pillows are packed and the score is tied;
The man at the bat is the rooters' pride;
There are two men out and we need a run,
When the voice of the umpire shouts "Strike one!"

Reel Two.

"Tough luck, old man, you are swinging fine!"
('Tis the voice of the manager of the nine.)
"Now, show that 'busher' what you can do"—
When the voice of the umpire shouts "Strike two!"

Reel Three.

Whereat the batter, with fire in eye,
Turns 'round on the "ump" for to argufy.
He's right in the midst of an ardent plea,
When the voice of the umpire shouts "Strike three!"

Ham Hyatt is slated to play the initial sack for Pittsburg the coming season. Well, Ham ought to bring home the bacon, in Smoketown.

St. Louis fans are for Hank O'Day and hope to see him prosper. If it hadn't been for Hank we might have lost our "Rabbit."

Well, seeing as the field of daffydils is pretty well cleaned up, we would like to inquire if water runs in summer, will the ice floe in winter?

Jack Johnson is going to "blacklist" any "white hope" who fights in New York. Why not call a "colored" list, Artha?

WALLACE HERE; HOPES TO SHAKE LAST PLACE

Roderick J. Wallace, manager of the Browns, arrived in the city at noon Wednesday. He will make his home here for the remainder of the season.

Wallace will attend the schedule meeting of the American League, due to be held in Chicago in February, where he hopes to conclude a deal or two.

Wallace is more optimistic of the future of the Browns than most of the merely casual observers of the team's progress. He figures that the club has at least a chance to get out of the eight hole, due to improved pitching and strengthened in field and outfield.

Bobby figures to put Platt at second base next spring and send Laporte with his mighty bat to strengthen the outer garden. He hopes for much more from his pitching staff than was shown last season, and he figures on stopping a few youngsters on their way back from the big leagues to the minors to fill out his feeble catching department.

LONESOME HEDGES TO MOVE DOWNTOWN

Col. Hedges is lonesome. Following the close of the 1911 season he thought it would be a good idea to move his office to Sportsman's Park. There he has spent much of his time during the off-season, but he finds it anything but pleasant to gaze out on the snow-covered diamond.

For that reason the Colonel has decided to move downtown again. He has engaged a suite in the New Bank of Commerce Building and says he, along with Secretary Rickart and Assistant Secretary Mason, will be on the job at Broadway and Olive next week.

Tenpin Men in Wrangle Over Handicap System

Meeting Next Sunday Will Decide Feasibility of Altering the Present Method of Computing.

By W. J. O'CONNOR.

When members of the St. Louis Bowling Association foregather at the Marquette Hotel next Sunday, one of the principal questions to come up will be the feasibility of changing the present handicap system. When the annual city tournament was held last year, the handicaps were computed on what is known as a 75 per cent basis. This year there is an agitation on—and it's a strong one—to reduce the percentage to 60 per cent. Some even demand 50 per cent and a merry old powwow is promised Sunday.

Bowling handicaps are computed as follows: On March 17, the secretary of every league that is a member of the City Association will send to the association secretary, Dennis Sweeney, the averages of all the teams, together with the pin totals, for the season past. The individual averages and team totals also will be sent. If a man bowls in three leagues his averages and pin totals in each league must be sent to Sweeney on separate blanks.

How It Works Out.

Then Sweeney, who has studied algebra and mental arithmetic, will determine the season's average of every team and every individual. This done, he will select the five-man team that has the best average and make that the scratch team. The second best team then will be taken up. Sweeney will determine the difference between the team totals of the two clubs per game, and right here is where the argument comes in.

Suppose the Union Sodas averaged 900 pins to the game all season and the Washingtons averaged only 890 pins. There is a difference of 10 pins to each game. Now the question is whether the Washingtons should receive a handicap of 60 per cent of the difference between their game totals and that of the Union Sodas, or whether they should receive a 75 per cent handicap. Sixty per cent of 10 is 6. Seventy-five per cent of 10 is 7½ or 8, as it would be computed.

Bowlers contend that a 75 per cent handicap is too much. That is, some bowlers do. Others claim it isn't enough. And so the pin-topplers intend to get together Sunday and settle once and for all on this troublesome question.

The Western Rowing Club teams roll on a 50 per cent basis. The Washington, Royal Arcanum and Knights of Pythias Leagues use a 75 per cent basis.

Ameling Scratch Man?

Present indications are that Jerry Ameling will be scratch man in the next city tournament, which will be held in April. Ameling and Fuerman probably will toe the scratch in the doubles, while Ameling's Union Soda five stands an excellent chance of being the scratch entry in that division. Reason: They have the heftiest averages in the City League, the major league of bowling.

Officers of the City Association are: Charles M. Barker, president; Gus Schneider, first vice-president; E. B. Couchman, second vice-president; Harry Fuchs, third vice-president; W. H. Hoppe, fourth vice-president; Martin Kern, treasurer, and Dennis Sweeney, secretary.

New officers will be elected Sunday and it is said that practically the same officials will be re-elected. Several new faces probably will be added to the Board of Governors.

Expectations are that at least 200 bowlers will attend Sunday's meeting, which will be held in the banquet hall. This is spacious enough to accommodate such a mob. Officers of the association are planning on having at least 40 leagues within the fold next season with no less than 320 clubs. The entrance fee for each club is $2.

Another important bit of business will be the indorsement of J. D. Wooster Lambert for president of the American Bowling Congress. Wooster was indorsed last Sunday, but this will be done over again, to make sure.

Bowlers are all strong for the new idea of having two men share the same alley in singles. Last year one man was given an alley all to himself, and this proved a strenuous task. This year the bowlers will roll in the doubles, then stick right to their post and run off the singles, two men using the same run-way. More speed and less work.

KIRK OFFERED BOUT WITH T. DIXON, HERE

Oliver Kirk, who for years has been considered the best amateur boxer in the city, is about to quit the game in spite of the objections of his friends and relatives. A tempting offer has been made him to box Tommy Dixon, the ex-navy champion, in a six-round bout here Jan. 29, as the feature of the show at which Bennie McGovern and Frankie White are to meet.

Murphy Outpoints Bedell.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—In a whirlwind bout of 10 rounds at the Royal A. C., Tommy Murphy of Flatbush outpointed Joe Bedell of Williamsburgh by a small margain. Murphy gained the honors early in the session, and though Bedell fought with the courage of despair in the closing rounds, he was unable to overcome the early advantages of his adversary.

Coulon to Meet Conley.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Johnny Coulon, bantamweight champion, last night accepted terms for a 20-round fight with Frankie Conley at Los Angeles, on Feb. 3. The little fellows will weigh 116 pounds three and one-half hours before the fight.

MATHEWS TO BOX DALE GARDNER IN BOUT AT JOPLIN

Local Lightweight Will Go 15 Rounds With Former California Champion.

Tonight's Boxing Bouts.

Jim Flynn vs. Al Williams, 10 rounds, at Toronto, Canada.

Battling Schultz vs. Charlie White, 8 rounds, at Windsor, Canada.

Freddie Daniels vs. Jimmy Evans, 15 rounds, at St. Joseph, Mo.

Pierce Mathews, one of several of the promising lightweights of St. Louis, was matched Tuesday night to box Dale Gardner 15 rounds at Joplin, Jan. 26. Mathews has been complaining that the six-round contests in which he has of late figured are not long enough for him to show at his best. Gardner was California lightweight champion two years ago.

The match is being staged before the club run by Jimmy Bronson of Joplin. Tom Dixon will referee.

Al. Williams has been substituted for Al. Kubiak as the opponent of Jim Flynn in their fight at Toronto, tonight.

Jack Johnson insists he will box in New York. He says he'll meet Al Palzer for $20,000 and a side bet of $10,000, and will agree to stop him in 10 rounds. Modest man!

The Douglas Athletic Club once had an offer up for Johnson to meet Palzer. The sum was $15,000. With the commission opposed, the offer will probably be withdrawn.

Eddie Randall is to stage a show at the Missouri Athletic Club Friday. It's just a workout for the regular monthly tournament and only amateurs need apply.

Friends of Johnny Regan, the bantamweight boxer who died here recently, are planning a benefit for his widow, who lives in Brooklyn. The affair will be staged at the Irish American A. C. Feb. 12. Several local boxers will go on in bouts.

FOR SICK HEADACHE, DIZZINESS, TORPID LIVER, BILIOUSNESS—TAKE CASCARETS.

Sick headaches! Always trace them to lazy liver, delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sick stomach. Poisonous matter retained in the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, awful throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets remove the cause by stimulating the liver, making the poison move on and out and purifying the blood. The effect is almost instantaneous. Ladies whose sensitive organisms are especially prone to sick headaches, need no suffer, for they can be quickly cured by Cascarets. One taken tonight will straighten you out by morning—a 10-cent box means a clear head and perfect health for months. Don't forget the children—their little insides need a good, gentle cleansing, too. Children gladly take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

S.S.S. DRIVES OUT RHEUMATISM

Rheumatism is in reality an internal inflammation—a diseased condition of the blood cells which supply the nourishment and strength necessary to sustain our bodies. Uric acid, an irritating, inflammatory accumulation, gets into the circulation because of physical irregularities, and then instead of nourishing and invigorating the body, the blood irritates and inflames the different nerves, tissues, muscles and joints, because of its impure, acrid condition. The pains and aches and other disagreeable and dangerous symptoms of Rheumatism can never be permanently cured until every particle of the cause is driven from the blood. S. S. S. does this because it is a perfect blood purifier. It goes down to the very bottom of the trouble, purifies and cleanses the circulation, invigorates the blood, and completely drives Rheumatism from the system. Plasters, liniments, soothing lotions, etc., may be used fo. the temporary relief and comfort they bring, but a cure cannot be effected until S. S. S. has removed the cause. It frees the blood of every impurity and makes it a rich, health sustaining fluid, to bring permanent relief and comfort to those who suffer with Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice free to all who write.

The woman visited the jail and talked to her husband Wednesday afternoon, and left weeping. She was crying when she entered the jail. Weber said he does not know where his wife went.

"IN order to effectually establish the opening wedge to a permanent satisfactory 'Rainy-Day' protection, a saving device must be: First, issued by some high-grade bank in connection with its regular savings account; second, so constructed as to absolutely prevent any of the money deposited being taken from it; third, it must include some arrangement by which any type of money, currency or coin, from the highest to the lowest denomination can be accommodated. In order to meet these conditions the Thriftometer was invented."

The Thriftometer has proved, in so many cases, its practical utility for savings depositors that you can not afford to handicap yourself by starting your account without one. Come to the American Trust Co. now, make your first deposit and get a Thriftometer free.

SNEAD IS INDICTED FOR KILLING FATHER OF WIFE'S AFFINITY

Banker Is Denied Bail and It Is Expected Trial Will Be Held in Two Weeks.

GRAND JURY HEARS WIFE

She Is Said to Have Testified Boyce Jr. Gave Her Love That Husband Denied.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Jan. 17.—J. B. Snead, the millionaire Amarillo banker, was indicted at noon today, the grand jury charging him with the murder of A. G. Boyce Sr., a wealthy cattleman, whose son eloped with Mrs. Snead recently.

The case was transferred to Judge Swayne's court to permit a speedy trial. Attorneys say the trial will start in two weeks. Bail was denied.

The killing of Boyce occurred Saturday night in the Metropolitan Hotel lobby.

After reports had been spread that Mrs. Snead had disappeared, she testified yesterday before the grand jury.

Clad in a neat-fitting blue suit and heavily veiled, she was examined for an hour and told in detail the story of her elopement with A. G. Boyce Jr., in November.

Mrs. Snead said her husband put her in a sanitarium here against her will, it is reported, and that she felt he had neglected her. Young Boyce met her here Nov. 9, and that they went first to St. Louis. They were arrested in Winnipeg. She admitted she loved Boyce still, it is said, but regretted she was compelled to be unfaithful to her husband. She came back after his earnest pleadings because of pity, she is said to have testified.

She declared her husband made no threats against any of the Boyces before her, although he had expressed himself bitterly against them.

Mrs. Snead also is reported to have told of the former friendliness of the families and how young Boyce gave her love which was denied her. She knew of no reason why her husband should kill the elder Boyce.

Mrs. Snead had been kept at Arlington Heights Sanitarium ever since the killing Saturday and the Sneads gave it out she had been taken from the city. Armed guards patrolled the sanitarium grounds.

When Deputy Sheriff Music yesterday went to the sanitarium he was informed she was not there. He insisted on an investigation, and only threats of arresting the sanitarium authorities induced them to bring her from her room. The Deputy took her to the courthouse in an automobile, and as soon as she arrived she took the stand. She was returned to the sanitarium.

SEAT SALE BREAKS ALL OPERA RECORDS

George W. Simmons, chairman of the Ticket Allotment Committee for the coming grand opera season, announced Wednesday that the box office sale which opened at Bollman's Monday has broken all opera records. All balcony seats left from the season sale were gone by 3 o'clock. The Committee is returning nearly 100 mail orders for balcony seats each day. There are a number of desirable main floor seats still to be had for each performance.

The performance of "The Secret of Suzanne," included with "Hansel and Gretel" in a double bill, will present to St. Louis an operatic novelty, first on the stage of the Metropolitan last March. The original Metropolitan cast—Carolina White, Sammarco and Daddi—will appear in St. Louis.

$7000 FIRE LOSS AT SUBURBAN GARDEN

Fire of undertermined origin caused $7000 damage to the concessions building at Suburban Garden Tuesday night. Three engine companies responded to an alarm turned in at 7:30 by a private watchman, but the firemen were handicapped by the inaccessibility of fire plugs. About 1750 feet of hose had to to be laid to throw water on the blaze, and only a favorable wind prevented greater loss.

The building was of wood and burned fiercely, although snow was piled deep on the roof. The fire attracted a large crowd. Cars of the Kirkwood-Ferguson and the Florissant lines were blocked an hour west of the garden, but a relief car was operated to and from the Wellston loop. The loss is covered by insurance.

CLAYTON JUDGE GIVES 5 DIVORCES IN SINGLE HOUR

The St. Louis County judges have been kept busy this week trying divorce suits. The scene shifted Wednesday from Judge McElhinney's court to Judge Wurdeman's.

The Judge granted five divorces in an hour, the first being on the application of Hulda Frankel, daughter of Charles J. Henninger, editor of a St. Louis County newspaper, for a divorce from Edward Frankel.

She testified that her husband was a professional gambler, and that he took the money she earned and lost it. He quit working, she testified, and then got into serious trouble, running away and never coming back.

Frank Kratsky of 6460 Bartmer avenue got a divorce from Josephine Kratsky upon his testimony that he sent her a railroad ticket to come to St. Louis from Newport, and that she wrote back saying she did not want to come to St. Louis, and that he could get another woman and she would get another man. She said she felt and looked five years younger after he left, he testified.

Jennie Low of Benton got a divorce from Alexander Low on proof that he abused her. Effie Pienaar was divorced from Gideon Pienaar on a charge of desertion.

TO REDUCE FAT

In this day of close-fitting gowns it seems as though all the fashionable designers had combined in a conspiracy to make the slender woman captivating and the stout one ridiculous. Fat is the fashionable woman's biggest bugbear. She simply cannot let herself take on weight; she must do something to retain the slenderness and grace of youth. Diet, medicine or exercise will not help her. There is, however, a new preparation called Absorbo, which is a harmless cream for external use, and it makes the fat disappear from any desired part of the body within a very short time. One of the remarkable features of Absorbo is that absolutely no diet or harmful drug is necessary to assist it in making the reduction. Absorbo costs but $1.50 a jar, and can be bought from Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., 6th and Washington av., and the 3 Judge & Dolph Stores, 515 Olive, 7th and Locust and The Raboteau Store, Broadway and Washington.—ADV.

ACTRESS BRIDE OF FORGER-BIGAMIST JAY ASKS DIVORCE

Mrs. Ella May Jay of 5639 Vernon avenue, who was Miss Ella Chamberlain, an actress, and known on the stage as Jane Carleton, filed suit Wednesday to divorce Edgar R. Jay, alias Gould Jay and Jule Lee, the youthful forger and bigamist to whom she was married Dec. 27, 1911, at Independence, Kan.

She alleges that at the time of the marriage he had another wife, who was Miss Estelle Ziegler of Carthage, and to whom he was married March 27, 1911.

Jay and his second wife separated Jan. 1, according to the petition, after he had given worthless checks to Samuel Kauffman, a wealthy St. Louisan. One of the checks was for $100 and a second for $125. The last one was given to Kauffman in Dallas, Tex., where Jay had followed the St. Louisan.

The suit was assigned to Judge Allen's division of the Circuit Court and Jay, through his attorney, entered an appearance, making an early trial possible.

Jay was paroled from the Missouri Penitentiary by Gov. Hadley. He was then serving his second term for and since his last arrest it has learned the police of Kansas City several other charges against him.

The Perfect Laxative for Elderly People

Age has its attractions no less than youth in a more serene and quieter life. But it is this very life of rest without sufficient exercise that brings with it these disorders that arise from inactivity. Chief of these are a chronic, persistent constipation.

Most elderly people are troubled in this way, with accompanying symptoms of belching, drowsiness after eating, headaches and general lassitude. Frequently there is difficulty of digesting even light food. Much mental trouble ensues, as it is hard to find a suitable remedy. First of all the advice may be given that elderly people should not use salts, cathartic pills or powders, waters, or any one of the more violent purgatives. What they need, women as well as men, is a mild laxative tonic, one that is pleasant to take and yet acts without griping.

The remedy that fills all these requirements, and has in addition tonic properties that strengthen the ach, liver and bowels, is Dr. C Syrup Pepsin, which thousands derly people use, to the exclu all other remedies. Trustworth ple like Mr. John W. White, Mo., and Mrs. Eleanora Olson, tain Grove, Mo., say they take regular intervals and in that only maintain general good but that they have not in years as good as they do now. You well to always have a bottle the house. It is good for all ily.

Anyone wishing to make a this remedy before buying it regular way of a druggist cents or one dollar a large (family size) can have a sam tle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. C 405 Washington St., Monticello, Your name and address on a card will do.

man Yoakum said that he did h to discuss details of plans for adjustment of the arbitrary, as that was principally a problem for the traffic department to work out.

Yoakum is the first high official of any railroad system to make an open declaration that the arbitrary should and must be adjusted.

The Rate Adjustment Committee of the Business Men's League is now working with the railroads to devise a plan for the complete elimination or at least a reduction in the arbitrary. An early announcement of the success of the negotiations is anticipated, particularly in view of statement of Yoakum.

At the conclusion of his speech of the practicability of a barge line to revive river transportation, Yoakum said, at the banquet:

"I have talked with Mr. Winchell, and with other officials of the Frisco, and all have agreed that there should be a way found by which the differential in rates between St. Louis and East St. Louis should be reduced.

"How this can best be arrived at with fairness to all is a question to be talked out by the interested parties. But all interests should be willing to give and take. It cannot be done without the change of some opinions and the shrinkage of some earnings. I believe the question can be thrashed out in a manner that will be satisfactory to all. That is the strength of an organization like the Business Men's League, that it makes possible conferences of different interests and promotes a spirit of fair dealing and mutual concession."

Kreismann Intimates That He Wishes Wells Had His Old Job Back.

At the Business Men's League banquet at the Southern Hotel Tuesday night the principal discussion turned to the proposed barge line to be established by the league to operate between St. Louis and New Orleans. The details of the project were discussed by Murray Carleton, while Yoakum discussed principally the practicability of Mississippi River transportation and its effect on freight rates.

Murray Carleton, who introduced Yoakum, made a strong plea for the barge line, and said a soliciting committee would soon visit the members. Two lines of business, he said, had subscribed $30,000—the dry goods and hardware lines. P. W. Coyle, traffic commissioner of the league, spoke after Yoakum, and told of the need for water connection, not only with New Orleans, but with gulf coast ports, especially Galveston. He told how New York, through its three water lines to Galveston, enjoyed a lower rate to a large part of Texas than St. Louis has.

Before Yoakum got into action, Rolla Wells, former Mayor, made his address as president of the league. His first few words precipitated a ludicrous scene.

"A year ago, he began, "you elected me Mayor"——

He got no farther. A roar of laughter started at the speakers' table and spread through the big banquet hall. Turning to Mayor Kreismann, who sat next him, Wells patted his head and fondled him as one might do with an offended infant. Kreismann claimed the floor, and said that "this happy little incident" gave him a chance to remark that the people would have made no mistake if they had elected Wells Mayor. "And I," added the Mayor-for-sure, "would be much happier."

Praises Saunders.

Wells then amended by saying that it was the presidency of the league to which he had been elected on a similar occasion a year before. He talked of the league's work, praised Secretary Saunders' work and that of the other officials and committees, and then remarked that one of the objects of the league was to bring conventions to St. Louis. This caused a laugh.

"A little army, with colors flying, marched quickly up the hill," he declared, "and then, with drooping feathers, marched slowly down again. We were licked. But in all the trade of war there is no feat nobler than a brave retreat."

Forrest Ferguson presented the Nominating Committee's report, recommending Wells' re-election as president and Elias Michael, Joseph R. Barroll, John E. Pilcher, Sam D. Capen and R. H. Stockton for vice-presidents. David R. Francis put the motion by which the choice was ratified.

The league almost passed a resolution indorsing the work and aims of the National Citizen's League for the Promotion of a Sound Banking System.

George A. Roth read a long resolution declaring that the plan favored by the National Citizens' League was necessary for the prevention of panics. President Wells called for a vote, and it seemed that the resolution would go through without dissent. Then, just before the expected chorus of ayes, Harry B. Hawes, in a distant corner of the room, got recognition.

Hawes said the matter was one on which many members of the Business Men's League were not well informed, and that further time was needed for enlightenment and consideration. He moved to substitute by referring the matter to the executive committee. No one offered to debate the matter, and amid a general laugh, Hawes' motion prevailed.

The custom of two or three years past, of songs by the banqueters, was abandoned and about the only singing that was done by the crowd was in the choruses of songs by three soloists, Will Stanard, Steve Martin and W. M. Porteous.

HUSBAND TAKES MONEY AND WIFE TAKES ACID

Mrs. Ida Dantrich, Working for $7 a Month, Seeks Death After Purse Is Rifled.

Mrs. Ida Dantrich, 29 years old, was recovering Wednesday at the city hospital from the effects of carbolic acid she drank Tuesday with suicidal intent, after quarreling with her husband, Edward Dantrich, at their home, 610 Barton street.

She said her husband worked infrequently at his trade of coopering and that she had been cleaning a doctor's office for $7 a month.

When her husband left the house with the greater part of the family funds, she remonstrated, she said. Dantrich returned a short time later and found she had taken poison.

HUNNING'S WIDOW AND SEIDEL WILL DENY CONFESSIONS

Claim to Be Advanced They Were Worn Out by Merciless Inquisition.

TALK LONG WITH COUNSEL

Statement Is Made They Thought They Signed Only Admission of Intimacy.

That the defense will attack the validity of the murder confessions made at Hillsboro by Mrs. Annie Hunning and Joseph Seidel, her admirer, became apparent Wednesday from the attitude of their attorneys, R. A. Frazier and J. H. Reppy. These confessions, reduced to writing and signed by the pair, are to the fact that Seidel killed the woman's husband upon her promise to marry him and give him $1150 and some miscellaneous personal property.

Frazier spent Tuesday and Wednesday morning at Hillsboro in conference with the pair. It was announced Wednesday that they would repudiate the statements, saying the two thought they were merely signing documents which told of their undue intimacy before the murder.

From this it is believed that the defense will resist the efforts of Prosecutor Miller to get the confessions before the jury when the murder trial comes up, March 25. It will be urged that the prisoners had been worn to exhaustion by long and merciless questioning until they did not realize what they were doing; that they were willing to sign anything to end the ordeal.

Frazier and Reppy are reluctant about discussing the case. They say they do not want to talk about it too much for publication, insisting that this would be equivalent to trying it in the newspapers.

Prosecutor Thinks Statements Valid.

Miller, on the other hand, is confident that the statements will be admissible as evidence in the trial. He says the statements were obtained not because the man and woman were exhausted, but because each believed the other had told everything and each wanted to save himself as much as possible.

He said that Seidel was perfectly cool and deliberate when he began his narrative.

To substantiate this he points to a letter which he says was written by Seidel to Mrs. Hunning after the confessions. This letter was intercepted and is in Miller's hands, the prosecutor avers.

It says:

"Say, I thought you would not give me away. I found out last night you said I done it. You signed your name to it. So I had to tell the truth about it. So now we are up against it right. What made you show them notes I sent you? They showed them to me. It is no use to get mad about it now; the jig is up. They know it all that we done—that.

"You know what you promised me and you can't go back on me as long as I live. We would be all right if you would not give me away. I told you all the time you would give me away. You said you would not. All for this time, Annie. I don't know if we should stand trial or not. I don't know. I wish our people would come here soon. Burn this up."

Fine for Croup

Mothers Should Cut This Out and Never Be Unprepared.

In any home where a child has a tendency to croup, a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce High-o-me) should be kept constantly on hand.

A sudden attack of croup with difficult breathing and extreme distress is apt to come on at any time.

The course to be pursued is plain. Send for your doctor at once, and in the meantime drop 30 drops of Hyomei into a bowl of boiling water, and hold the child's head over it, cover with a towel or cloth, so that only the air filled with Hyomei vapor is breathed.

This method of treatment has saved many a child's life, and mothers of croupy children should see to it that HYOMEI is always on hand. Full instructions for prompt relief of croup is in each package.

A 50 cent bottle of HYOMEI is all you need for croup. It is sold by druggists everywhere.

HYOMEI is made of Australian Eucalyptus and other antiseptics. It contains no cocaine or other harmful drug. Money returned if it does not give satisfaction in treatment of catarrh, coughs, colds, croup and catarrhal deafness. Complete outfit including inhaler $1.00.—ADV.

Women's Avalanche of Questions Sweeps Men Orators From the Stage

A. P. Welle, Baker, and J. C. Cabanne, Milkman, Glad to Get Away From the Quizzing That They Received at End of Speeches.

O, so fine, as "Our China Boy Reporter" would say, to make a speech before a women's club and smilingly await for the applause when the speaking is done. But O so cruel when instead of applauding the women ask a million questions and you have to get red in the face and stammer and say, "Maybe you're right," and look imploringly around for somebody to help you escape.

Such was the experience of Albert P. Welle, manager of the Welle-Boettler Bakery Co., and J. Charless Cabanne, president of the St. Louis Dairy Co. Tuesday afternoon. Neither having heard of the man who carried coals to Newcastle, they attempted to talk about pure baker's bread and pure milk to the members of the Women's Pure Food Association at the St. Louis Medical Hall, 3525 Pine street.

A Touching Speech.

Welle made a neat speech with rounded periods and graceful allusions. The 287 women listened quietly as he talked about baker's bread so feelingly that he almost made one wonder if his preconceived theories about mother's "salt risin'" bread and hot biscuits didn't need revising.

But the smile with which he finished went astray. From all over the hall women began hurling questions. First they hurled them singly, then by squads and finally by platoons. Here are some of the questions that came like dough-balls:

"How are labels placed on bread? Are they licked?"

"Why aren't wrappings put on the loaves?"

"Why is not the weight of a loaf plainly stamped on it?"

"What makes you think it's as good as home baked bread?"

"What chemicals do bakers use?"

"Do they put lard into their bread?"

"You say 10-cent loaves are wrapped, why arent five-cent ones?"

He Is All at Sea.

Welle tried to field them as rapidly as they came, but Ty Cobb himself couldn't have done it. His answers sounded something like this:

The city ordinances fix the minimum weight—yes, ma'am the labels are put on while the bread is hot and stick so—no, ma'am, no chemicals are used by good ba—how's that? Why, I think it is as filling as home-made bread—well maybe you're right; I don't know much about home-made—the grocer will wrap it, it would be a large expense—"

By this time he had lost all count. He looked around appealingly. Mrs. Charles A. Baker of Webster Park threw him a life-line. She arose to remark that Welle had made a nice talk and that some bakers were doing their best to make good bread and handle it carefully. The baker did not overlook the chance, but hurried into his overcoat and said a hasty good-bye. He mopped his brow and whistled an audible "whew!" as he left the building.

Same for Cabanne.

What happened to Cabanne could almost be retold by putting ditto marks under every word of what happened to Welle. However he gave the signal for the assault which followed the close of his address with the words "You are getting better milk now than you got 20 years ago when I entered the business and you get it at half price."

"How is it the percentage of mortality in St. Louis is higher than in New York, Cleveland and many other large cities?" opened the bombardment. It was followed by this sort of grape and cannister fire:

"Is all the milk inspected that is delivered in St. Louis?"

"Are all the dairy herds inspected for tuberculosis?"

"Are the inspection laws rigidly enforced?"

"How is the milk protected after it reaches the city and before it is delivered?"

"How soon after milk arrives is it delivered?"

"How many St. Louis dairies do you consider are clean?"

Makes His Exit, Too.

Cabanne admitted there were some subjects he disliked to talk about and blamed city ordinances for the lax methods in handling milk. He sat down with a soft, debutante-like blush mantling each cheek and sought the earliest opportunity for a decorous exit from the hall.

"Oh, dear!" one woman exclaimed after he had gone. "I do wish those gentlemen had stayed a while longer. There were just oodles of questions I wanted to ask!"

Among the women who fired the volleys of questions at Welle and Cabanne were Mrs. W. E. Fischel, president of the women's organization, Mrs. Edmund Sears, wife of Principal Sears of Mary Institute, Mrs. Charles Gildehaus, Mrs. Edward C. Rowse, Mrs. Charles Baker and Dr. Lydia M. DeWitt.

POLICE FIND MAN KICKING IN DOOR

Has Diamonds, but No Identity of Which He Knows—Inquiry Is Making.

The police Wednesday held for identification a well dressed young man, who wore a diamond ring valued at $1000, arrested at 4 a. m. when he was trying to kick in a door at 611 North Twenty-third street.

When the man was arrested he said a young woman whom he had been escorting had gone in there and refused to admit him. Besides the diamond ring, policemen who searched him found a pawn ticket for an uncut diamond upon which he had obtained a loan of $100. He also had $5.

He says his name is Aloysius Smith, that he is 19 years old and lives with his mother and sister at 1604 North Ninth street. The ring belongs to one of his two brothers, a commission man, he says.

BUCKET BRIGADE AT FIRE

Family of Dr. J. H. Middleton Saves Home in Night.

A family bucket brigade, supplemented by the assistance of neighbors saved the big residence of Dr. J. H. Middleton, 8615 Jennings avenue, from destruction by fire Tuesday night. The blaze started in the basement and was discovered at 8 p. m. by a maid.

Dr. Middleton, who has been ill of grip two weeks, arose from his bed and watched his sons, Albert, Earl and James, put the fire out with the help of volunteers. The damage was confined to the basement, but the heating apparatus was disabled temporarily. The house is about two blocks west of the St. Louis city limits. It has county water, but no plugs for fire connection.

STECK GETS 3 1-2 YEARS FOR $25,000 POSTAL ROBBERY

No Leniency Plea for Clerk Who Confessed and Made Partial Restitution.

George V. Steck, former postoffice clerk at the Annex Station, who confessed to the theft of a $25,000 registered package of currency, was sentenced in the United States District Court Wednesday to a term of three and one-half years in the Fort Leavenworth Penitentiary.

Steck took the money Sept. 24, 1910, and the loss was concealed by the postoffice authorities until the Post-Dispatch published the facts one year later. This stimulated the search, which had been practically abandoned, and suspicion was directed to Steck.

He confessed a few weeks ago, and, taking postoffice inspectors to the rear of his home at 4562 Newport avenue, he took the remaining money, $23,562, from the rafters of his chicken house.

Because of the confession and the restitution of most of the money, it was thought that District Attorney Houts would recommend a sentence of a year or two years. He made no such recommendation. Inspector Bunsen offered a recommendation for leniency.

OUR WARNING TO CUBA.

That the State Department should have deemed it necessary to warn the Gomez administration that, unless it forthwith suppresses disturbances caused by the Cuban veterans, the United States would feel called upon to intervene, foreshadows the probability of action in that direction. The possibilities are interesting.

We intervened in 1903 and Palma quit. Mr. Roosevelt sent William Howard Taft down there then. If Mr. Taft should reciprocate by sending the Colonel to Havana, what would happen? By this course he might get the Colonel out of the political race with fine diplomacy. But Roosevelt in Cuba with a few battalions of American soldiers would be an unpleasant uncertainty for peace-loving Americans.

FROZEN FIREPLUGS.

The loss caused by the burning of a building with costly contents was greatly increased because all the fireplugs in the neighborhood were frozen. How many other fireplugs adjacent to valuable property would be found in a similar useless condition? Some of the precautions usually taken in the fall against the freezing of hydrants are said to have been omitted this season.

Little doubt exists as to the impression made on the public by the firemen's exasperating experience, coming after municipal policy has been strikingly exemplified in the Havlin Theater, in the lack of provision for the city's suffering indigent during severe weather, in the restricted water supply and threatened water famine, in other recent matters.

Rapid extension is being made in the record that convicts the municipal administration of general shiftlessness. No other term seems to apply as well.

HIGH LIVING WITHOUT COST.

A young man named Siegel has solved the problem of the day. He came to St. Louis, represented himself as the son of a rich Western merchant and ordered big bills of goods from jobbing and wholesale houses. Forthwith the wheels of commerce seemed to turn only for Siegel, and they turned to the rhythmic click of the taximeter the clink of the tall, thin glass and the slink of the soft-shoe waiter with a scuttle of champagne in one hand and a skillet of pate de foie gras in the other.

Entertainers for Washington avenue firms impatiently waited in line to buy something for Siegel. It was soft for him until some bright young man who does most of his work and all of his dining on a high stool conceived the brilliant idea that it might be well to look into Siegel's credentials. Then the Siegel bubble burst, just as a new cocktail was about to be named for him.

Maybe the only moral in this is that it would be well for wholesale merchants to inspect the credentials of customers before entertaining them. But to the ultimate consumer there seems to be a deeper moral. Would it not be possible to sell goods on their merits, without handing out business bribes in the guise of entertainment? Where does the cost of this entertainment fall? If it is added to the wholesale price of the goods the retailer must get even by increasing the retail price.

How will the wholesalers make up for what they mistakenly spent on Siegel?

Artist Knott's prophetic picture Tuesday showed the Terminal Association yielding to the "psychic wave of remorse" and making confession of its misdeeds and that very evening Mr. Yoakum admitted the arbitrary is wrong.

A FEW INNOCENT QUESTIONS.

Messrs. Roosevelt, Gary, Carnegie, Nagel, Hearst and other great statesmen are just at present shouting from the housetops that the day of competition is over, that the law of Supply and Demand is dead, that the only way to protect consumers and producers is by government-controlled Combination.

The Post-Dispatch would appreciate replies from the above statesmen to the following questions:

Why not wait until we know just what will be the effect of the dissolution of the Standard Oil and Tobacco Trusts?

How can these wise gentlemen know today that one year from today we shall not all be burning better and cheaper oil and smoking better and cheaper cigars?

Would the oil and tobacco and other great monopolies ever have come into being had the people insisted on the enforcement of the anti-trust law forbidding such monopolies?

Now that the people are insisting on the enforcement of the law and that numerous estimable monopolists are in the shadow of the penitentiary walls, why not give Competition a chance and see if Business will again surrender to the temptations of monopoly and the prospect of an indefinite stay in jail?

Now that we are about to shatter our tariff walls and let our overgrown and overfed "infant industries" stand on their own feet and fight it out with the invading producers of Europe, why not wait a few years to see whether the reduction of the tariff won't help?

If the day of competition is over, why go to the trouble of reducing the tariff? Why not simply turn monopoly and the power to fix prices over to the government, take a nap and wake up to find that, instead of turning monopoly over to the Government, we have turned the Government over to monopoly?

Too much hope should not be built on an appeal to the Interstate Commerce Commission against the threatened increase in telephone rates. These are matters in which local communities must work out their own salvation.

BEGINNING OF THE END.

I have talked with Mr. Winchell and with other officials of the Frisco and all have agreed that there should be a way found by which the differential in rates between St. Louis and East St. Louis should be reduced. The officials of the Frisco are in sympathy with such a movement.—Chairman B. F. Yoakum of the Frisco at B. M. L. Banquet.

This statement and pledge of sympathetic cooperation from the head of one of the great railroad systems using St. Louis terminals mark the end of effective resistance to the campaign led for years by the Post-Dispatch.

Concession of the justice of our fight could hardly be made in a more authoritative or impressive way. After the injustice of the arbitrary is conceded from so unanswerable a source, who remains to defend it? The arbitrary should not merely be reduced. It should be abolished entirely.

The Post-Dispatch welcomes Mr. Yoakum and the Frisco as recruits in such further campaign as may be necessary to establish complete free trade, not only in railroad but in other traffic, between the Missouri and Illinois shores.

COLD FEET.

If St. Louis has on two or three recent occasions displayed a tendency to cold feet, the blame attaches to the United Railways. An occasional cold foot would no more affect the gameness of a populous community than one swallow would make a spring, but several hundred thousand pairs of cold feet are another matter.

If, as someone has remarked, the delegation which went on for the Democratic national convention never got its feet comfortable the entire time it was away, they must have been pretty cold when it started, and that probably fairly reflects the state of affairs. The psychology of civic ambition in its relation to thin car bottoms is something no one reasonably expects the United Railways to master. It ought, however, to be made to realize in a dumb, inanimate way something of the enormity of its ill-doing, and restore to the community that grit and aggressiveness of which it was capable before it tried to keep heart up with wiggling its toes. Whether this could be done with carpets, or, perhaps, more to the corporation's liking because less expensive, with straw on the floor, is not imporant.

The thing is to give back to us our old, indomitable and warm-footed St. Louis.

SOMETHING TO BE PROUD OF.

The fact that 4000 persons applied to it for relief amply justifies the establishment of the Citizens' Emergency Relief Association as a permanent St. Louis institution. The community owes a hearty vote of thanks to Ben Altheimer, who originated the plan, and to David May, to the Boy Scouts and many other individuals and organizations who aided the movement earnestly and unselfishly.

The value of such work is inestimable. It is true charity of the highest type. Therefore it is not surprising that in Chicago, Boston and even New York, Mr. Altheimer's suggestion has been welcomed and that similar organizations are to be established for the purpose of providing relief in emergency.

It is planned in St. Louis to designate some day between Thanksgiving and Christmas for the collecting of clothing, food and other necessaries of life, which will be stored ready for winter emergencies, and the association will also act in case of fire, flood, hurricane or disaster of any kind, demanding prompt relief measures.

The Emergency Relief Association should fill a need in St. Louis, by robbing winter of a large part of its terrors in the homes of the poor. It should be supplemented by a municipal lodging house, to care for the homeless within our gates. The spirit of charity that responded so bountifully to the appeals of the Emergency Association within the last few days will not refuse to make these provisions for humanity's sake.

WHERE ECONOMY IS TABOO.

Mr. Sherley: Mr. Chairman, I know of no other place in America where there is so false and so peculiar an apparent public opinion about appropriations by the Government as in the District of Columbia. In every other city of America that I am acquainted with the newspapers, which are more or less the makers of public opinion, criticise the various local governments because of the money that they expend. In the District of Columbia the criticism is in direct proportion to the refusal of Congress to spend money, and we have the unusual spectacle presented here of Congress berated and abused because it undertakes to administer the affairs of the District with some degree of economy.—The Congressional Record.

The reason for it, of course, is that, because of appropriations from the National Treasury, the taxpayers of St. Louis and every other community in the country are forced to pay one-half of the municipal expenses of Washington,

WRONGS AND REMEDIES.

Complaint From Berlin Avenue.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

In building the sewer on Berlin avenue from 5600 west, the contractors left their excess dirt on the street after they finished the sewer, weight of which has caused the street to sink so that the water and gas pipes are being broken; the street is blocked so that residents are unable to get coal or other necessaries essential at this season of the year. Some of us will be compelled to vacate our homes to keep from freezing if relief is not given at once.

In addition to this, the children in this district are compelled to take two cars to get to and from school, and the two schools that are being used are overcrowded. RESIDENT.

(Organize a local committee and let them see Street Commissioner Travilla about the condition of the street; Capt. McCulloch about improvement of street car service, and the Board of Education about overcrowded schools.—Ed. Post-Dispatch.)

Gray Hair as a Handicap.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

There seems to be a prejudice against gray hair in St. Louis.

I have walked the streets in a search for work without avail.

A good bookkeeper and rapid and accurate at figures, I know that I can make good, but the gray hair seems to be against me, even though I ask just a trial. I am but 44 years old and have been gray since I was 20. Nobody seems to want that colored hair. Is there a "home" for those with the forbidden tint? Are those so afflicted to be relegated to the ash-heap? DISCOURAGED.

Team Owners Troubles.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

As one of the many owners of teams in St. Louis, whose living depends upon the number of loads we can make each day to the dumping places provided by the Wiggins Ferry Co. (or Terminal Railroad Association). I venture to call your attention to the loss of time and money which we team owners suffer by reason of the delays we encounter at the various dumping places of the Wiggins Ferry Co.

I have been delayed as long as half a day waiting for an opportunity to pay the Wiggins Ferry Co. 25 cents a load for the privilege of dumping about a cubic yard of dirt into its cars. The Wiggins Ferry Co. people seem absolutely indifferent as to whether cars are promptly provided for this dirt. Before the Terminal Railroad Association bought up the Wiggins Ferry Co. and other competitors, we paid 10 cents a load and suffered no delay for cars. Since that combine was consummated we are made to pay two and one-half times as much as before and, far more serious, are forced to wait the pleasure of the combine before we can empty our wagons.

F. STINECK.

(See Mr. W. S. McChesney Jr., president and general manager of Terminal Association, room 107 Union Station, and urge your complaint. Personal interviews are more likely to succeed than letters to newspapers.—Ed. Post-Dispatch.)

Cruelty to Horses.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

I would like to call the attention of the Humane Society to the brutal treatment the horses of a large ice and coal company are subject to every day of this rough weather. They are loaded too heavily and then the drivers beat them unmercifully. You can witness this every evening about 6 or 6:30 every day in the week in this weather at the south approach of the Twelfth street bridge, and I invite anyone to go and see for themselves, and see if they can't stop it.

ANONYMOUS.

(When you see a horse brutally treated, call up the Humane Society, Bell, Main 164, or Kinloch, Central 2345, and give the name of the company owning the team, description of team and wagon, location and all particulars. Also your name and address, if you are willing to serve as a witness. Ed. Post-Dispatch.)

Law on Street Car Heating.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch.

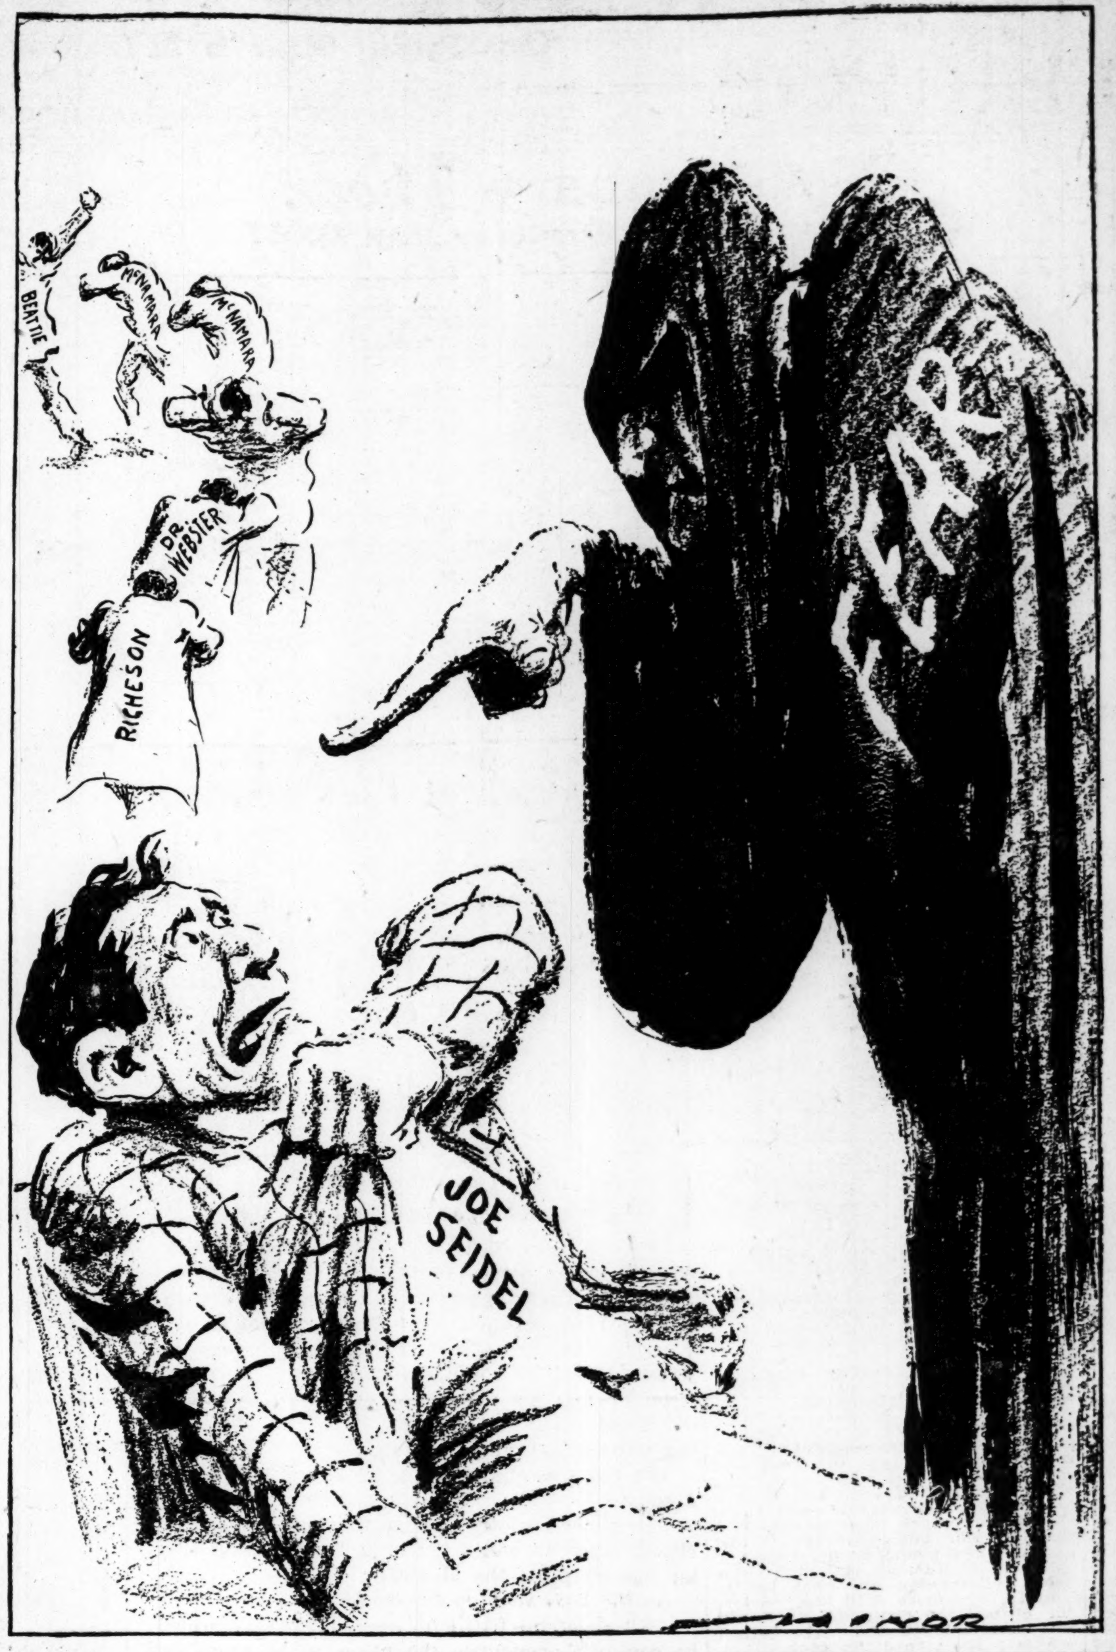
Section 1864 of the Revised Code of General Ordinances of St. Louis provides in part as follows: "Tenth—All cars shall be comfortably heated when the temperature without is below 40 degrees Fahrenheit."

Section 1868 provides in substance as follows: "Every corporation or person which may do any act in violation of any of the provisions of Section 1864, etc., and every president, superintendent, manager and other officer of a corporation or association who shall do any act in violation of said section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be fined not less than $5 nor more than $500 for each offense, and each day on which a violation may be permitted to exist shall constitute a separate offense."

The above is in answer to a recent inquiry from a subscriber as to the law governing the heating of street cars. It is likely that this subject will be a live topic for some time to come, hence the information. WARREN McGINNIS.

(Passengers who find that cars have been sent out with cold stoves, or that fires in stoves are neglected, should take number of car and make complaint direct to Capt. Robert McCulloch, general manager, giving full particulars and stating the time when the neglect was noticed.—Ed. Post-Dispatch.)

THE THIRD DEGREE.



NEITHER CLARK NOR FOLK.

From the New York World.

The Democrats cannot afford to throw away Missouri in their calculations for the presidential battle. But they will be throwing it away, as the St. Louis Post-Dispatch says, if the State convention to meet on Feb. 20 uses a majority either for ex-Gov. Folk or Speaker Clark, to bind the delegation to the national convention into an unwilling and unrepresentative unit.

Missouri is now debateable ground. Its sure Democracy in presidential elections disappeared in 1904 with a Republican plurality of 25,000, and in 1908 with a Republican plurality of 1026. It is on the way back, but it will not get back on a party division within the State.

The folly of the unit rule from a party standpoint here shines equally with its undemocratic character. Where the state is closely divided by two political candidates, the unit rule requires a large disfranchisement of party strength in the national convention. Mr. Clark and Mr. Folk should be content to go into that convention from Missouri each with the number of delegates properly belonging to him. Any other course will endanger the State and 18 electoral votes which the party cannot afford to lose.

FOLK-CLARK-WILSON.

From the Monroe County Appeal.

Joe Folk is entitled to the Missouri delegation and seems sure to get it. The Appeal, however, believes the delegation should be instructed for second and third choice. Let Clark have the votes if it becomes apparent that Folk has no show, then let Wilson have them if neither gentleman gets into the real running. If a primary should be held let the people vote on first, second and third choice. If a convention does the selecting let the same plan be followed, to the end that the delegation vote the sentiments of the body which selects it instead of becoming the personal property of a single man.

STUNNED.

From the New York World.

We cannot decide which commands the greater share of our admiration, the courage of Woodrow Wilson in asking Harper's Weekly to stop supporting him for President or the courage of Harper's Weekly in frankly making public Gov. Wilson's request.

The affair is without precedent in American politics or American journalism. Further than this we are unable to carry the discussion. We don't know what to say.

Looking Ahead.

"Well, we can, in a way. The January newspapers are now copying things out of the May magazines."

CANTO I.

I am not for you, Theodore—
It's not a great indictment,
But much I fear another year
My heart would scarcely persevere
Through all of the excitement.

SNOW.

Snow is a white, flaky substance designed for the purpose of protecting vegetation while the elements are manufacturing ice. It is no longer necessary, inasmuch as natural ice is not sold any more. It melts too slowly. The ice companies find that a very light artificial ice made at a high temperature will sell for the same money and melt about twice as fast. However, Nature has been at this thing a long time, and she is not to be swerved from an old course by new conditions. If a general overhauling of business morals still finds it necessary, she will manufacture a light natural ice that will melt in a jiffy. Snow falls wherever the temperature does, and is extensively used for winter sports and the decoration of mountain tops. It has one-tenth the density of water, makes excellent rabbit burrows, is very useful as a container for tracks, and is cold and tasteless like a caterer's ice. It is usually a rhyme, makes a nice worthless painting, and when worked up with an equal part of city soot, turns out a fine snow man resembling Jack Johnson.

"Madam, if you will give me my breakfast, I will sweep the snow off your walks."

"No thanks."

"I beg your pardon, Madam. I will sweep the snow off your walks, if you will give me my breakfast."

"That's better. Here is the broom."

Gold nuggets have been found in the craws of several chickens on the Elliott farm, four miles from Manitonas, Manitoba. All the remaining chickens have been staked out.

"He said you were out of soap?"

"Yes."

"I don't see how that could have damaged you."

"It wouldn't have done so but for the peculiar nature of my business."

"What is your business?"

"I'm running a laundry."

Conductor: What harm is he doing?

Cupid of the Chair

BY HELEN ELLSWORTH WRIGHT.

The Daily Short Story for Post-Dispatch Readers

IN the kitchen, sunshine filtering through chinks of the mended shade dappled the auction refreshments — milkpans of sandwiches, covered by dampened cloths—cups, ready for coffee. The dining room was over-full with furniture, but the closed parlor held only the one chair that was not for sale. Before it knelt Myra Curtis packing a smoking jacket and a pair of embroidered slippers into a little box.

Outside, a cloth sign flaunted the words "Public Auction" across the cattle shed. Tom Brannon, the auctioneer, swung suddenly across from the platform with the gavel in his hand and made towards the house.

"Myra?" he called softly at the kitchen door. There was no response and he crossed the floor, purposely clattering a stool.

Myra sprung up, thrusting the jacket behind her in an ineffectual effort to conceal it with her skirts. One of the slippers fell at his feet.

Brannon picked it up and turned it over a time or two, his eyebrows arching.

"Was that your father's?" he gently asked.

The blood surged to her forehead, then drained away. For a moment, she was giddy and closed her eyes. She had made those slippers for Tom in the days when he used to bring her home from choir practice, and he had never known. When she opened her eyes again, Brannon was wonderingly drawing the jacket into view.

"Were those things your father's?" She shook her head.

"Then whose were they?"

He had probed the quick of her secret. A Curtis, she had boasted, never evaded, never deceived. For generations, not a scion of the house had lied.

"Aren't you going to tell me whose they were?" There was insistent persuasiveness in his voice.

Again she shook her head.

"Well," he conceded, "they couldn't have been anybody's but your father's! Your mother wouldn't have worn them."

His conclusion stung; it was as though he had twitted her with poverty. What right had he to infer that she had never had a lover! An uncontrollable something within her rose to battle for her pride.

"They could have been somebody's else!" she retorted. "They are some one's else. They are—his!"

"His?" Brannon repeated, as if stupefied.

All at once, to her overwrought fancy, she seemed standing in the middle of her desert-life. Behind lay the trail of her colorless years; before, they reached to a gray horizon. A rebellious humiliation possessed her. She had slaved to hold the ranch; she had lost it. Today her home would be sold; tomorrow, with her trunk and her chair, she would cross the tuleland to the town branded "Failure" and without the aureole of a romance. Romance was a woman's heritage! Out of her loneliness rose a mastering impulse to claim one.

"Yes, his!" she cried, defiantly. "They belong—to the man who cares!" The words out, she longed to retract them. Her father used to say a lie was the passport to Damnation. She had told one!

It was very still in the room; the hush jeered her. Her heart was pounding in her ears.

"There is a man who cares!" she steadily asserted. "He comes every night. He sits in that chair. That's why it is not for sale!" She stopped, breathless, wondering if God would strike her dead.

Bewilderment, astonishment, denial successively registered on Brannon's face. She saw that between him and her were filing all her days—that he knew they held no lover but himself. Goaded, an unreasoning will possessed her. She would convince him! She must!

"He's true, and fine, and wonderful," she proclaimed. "He—loves me, and every night he—comes to tell me so!" She forced herself to meet the amazement in the eyes above her. There was no retreat.

"He brings me pinks, and dahlias, and pansies, and lavender sticks, and mignonette!" She paused, panting; still the words crowded her for utterance. She nerved herself to them. "He comes when the dew's on the flowers, and rests in the dusk in my chair. And I'm not lonesome! And I'm not a failure!"

In the dreaded silence that followed, Brannon swayed towards her; his eyes were very tender.

"Where is he now?" he demanded.

Her head drooped.

Tom's voice was scarcely audible. "I know how it is," he confessed. "When I put up that little home in the valley, I used to make believe that—somebody was there! I set out lilacs, and roses and petunias, because—I knew somebody who'd have liked them."

At last the auction was over. The [illegible] team creaked behind the cattle-shed and wound across the stubble towards town. A solitary blue crane winged screaming up from the tule, and countless marsh birds chattered unmolested.

In the little upstairs bedroom, Myra rose from her knees. Her face was gray. She knew, and Tom Brannon knew, and God knew that she, the last of the Curtis', had lied!

A coppery moon peered over the stubble. She could smell the honeysuckle on her porch; its swinging [illegible] called her to the closed front room. She stood up, determined. Her breath came with an effort; her hands were as ice, but she walked unflinchingly to the woodpile. Fiercely she [illegible] a box into strips. "[illegible] that kindleth a fire shall surely make restitution'," she quoted. "It ought to atone to give up the only thing I've got!" Every blow of the hatchet seemed striking her heart.

She carried the wood to the open, facing town. Laboriously, she pulled up clumps of stubble and formed with them a huge ring, then added kindlings, setting each taper-like on end. In the corral, she found a few loose boards. When the pyre was finished, it was long and broad and flat. Still the honeysuckle called.

The moon, filtering through the cedars, fell in white patches on the silent house. The doors gaped; the curtain-denuded windows stared at her like lidless eyes. Only the flowers poured out familiar fragrance and in the closed front room she knew stood the big armchair.

She dragged herself through the empty dining room to the door beyond. Her strength seeped from her so she could not turn the knob and she waited, for a moment, by the wall. Outside, the wind squeaked a twig against the window pane. Once, she was sure she heard a sound in the adjoining room. Her heart lost a beat, then pounded. She edged to the door. It was her last night in a home. A yearning possessed her to conjure once more with fancy before she burned the chair—to sit in the soft scented dusk and make believe—Slowly she turned the knob.

The chair stood in a flood of moonlight, occupied!

Myra Curtis did not scream. At first, her feet refused to carry her then she advanced deteminedly to the middle of the room. Half way across the floor, she stopped and shut her eyes. She opened them; it was no illusion; there was some one in the chair. She did not recognize Brannon, though he tried to speak.

"It is not true!" she affirmed, nearing a step. "It will go presently," she asserted, her voice rising. "If I touch it"— She reached out and a firm warm hand closed over hers.

"Myra," Brannon began, but she was on her knees.

"It's judgment upon me," she moaned, "to believe what isn't and touch what I know's not there!"

"Myra!" Brannon called. "Myra!"

"Thou hast said 'I will repay'," she whispered, "but I thought if I burned the chair"—

Brannon caught her by the shoulders, shaking her. "Myra Curtis," he blurted, "it's this fool me! I've had something to tell you for months! I couldn't find a way till you said—the man who loved you sat in the dark in this chair!"

She got to her feet, dazed, ashamed, humiliated. "But—there isn't any man!" she confessed. "There never has been! I—lied!"

"No—no, you didn't!" His arms comforted; his tones caressed. "You said there's some one who cares, and there is! You said he comes to tell you about it; he has come. He can't bring you 'pansies and dahlias'; won't the lilacs and roses do?"

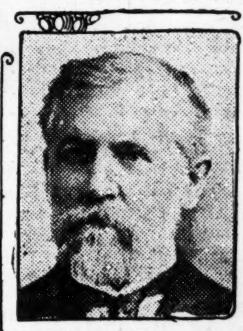
SELFMADE ST. LOUISANS

A series of lives of men who have made their way in the world, with interviews by Walter B. Stevens on how they started and what is their advice to young men who are ambitious to succeed.



WALTER B. STEVENS.

No. 7. Charles P. Johnson.

By Walter B. Stevens.

ONE noonday in the late winter of 1847 a small boy met the St. Louis stage in the public square of Belleville and received a bundle of papers. He started down the street to sell, giving patrons the choice of The Republican, the Reveille and the Union. The first customer that day was Murray Morrison, brother of Col. Don Morrison, who was away fighting his country's battles in Mexico. Morrison opened his paper hurriedly and exclaimed:

"Great Heavens! Charley, what are you selling papers for today?"

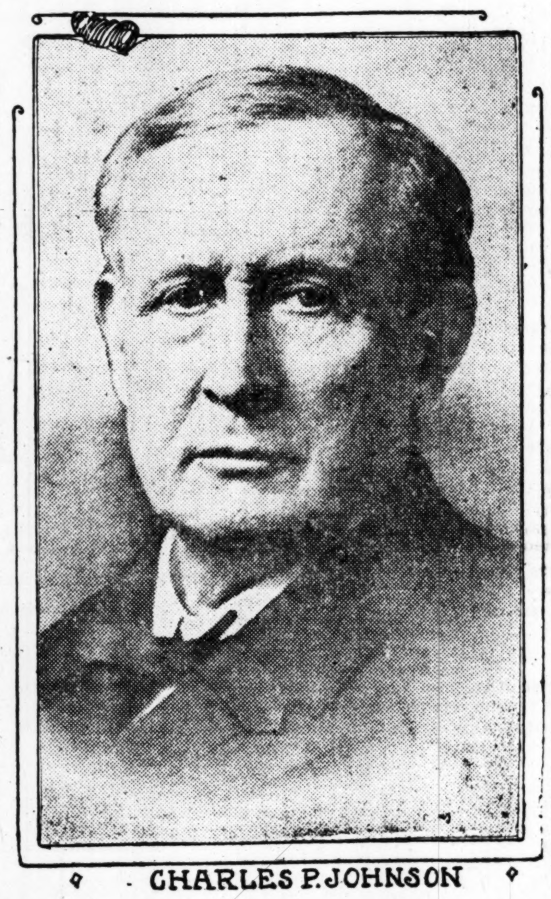
The boy was charging the usual price of 5 cents a copy.

"Don't sell another paper for that," said Morrison, "they've had a battle at Buena Vista. Taylor has whipped the Mexicans."

As the boy went on he shouted:

"All about the battle of"—— There he stopped; he couldn't pronounce the name, so he completed the announcement: "Taylor's beat the Mexicans." For every paper sold that day, telling how 5000 Americans, mostly volunteers, had defeated 20,000 Mexicans, after desperate fighting, the boy got "a long bit" as the silver piece of 12½ cents was known in that generation.

With the day when the news of Buena Vista reached Belleville Charles P. Johnson's self-making practically began. An elder brother in the ferry office of Samuel Wiggins in St. Louis saw that the bundle of daily papers was sent over. The stage arrived about the time school was dismissed for noon. The boy established a route.



CHARLES P. JOHNSON

HE prospered until the cholera epidemic of 1849. Even under discouraging conditions the route sold for $15 in cash and a silver watch. The purchasers were William Hyde, who afterward became editor of the Republican, and his brother.

Selling newspapers prompted interest in the reading and making of them. The boy learned to set type, to ink rollers, to take proofs. He had an associate of about his age in the person of Wesley Merritt, who became a famous general in the army. The boys, just verging on their teens, started a little newspaper of their own. They called it the Scrutinizer. About the fourth issue of the Scrutinizer the young publishers strolled around the public square to enjoy fame. They met a man who had been the subject of attention in the latest issue. Merritt was walking a few steps in advance.

"Ha!" said the man, "you are the fellow that wrote that thing about me.

Merritt took the thrashing. The Scrutinizer suspended.

German revolutionists coming to Belleville wanted their children to learn the language of the new country. They formed a little class at the Lutheran Church. Charles P. Johnson taught it at $10 a month. In 1852 there was an exciting contest for Congress in the Belleville district. Philip B. Fouke, an uncle of Charles P. Johnson, and William H. Bissell, the Mexican War hero, were the candidates. At Sparta, in the district, was a small newspaper plant owned by John R. Shannon. Young Johnson was sent down to Sparta to get out the paper. Shannon did the editorial work, but was ready to stop when the campaign closed. Johnson obtained the use of the plant and at 17 was publishing the Independent Spartan with this inspiring declaration of policy: "Justice to All—the Motto of an Independent." One of the chief contributors wrote "Scribulations From a District School Teacher," and signed them Bill Bark, which wasn't a bad pen name for William Hyde. Years afterward when the Missouri Republican, under Hyde's editorial management, made caustic reference to Charles P. Johnson's Free Soil principles, a warning was sent that the file of the Independent Spartan was in existence and that some of the Bill Bark poetry might find its way into the St. Louis papers. It was effective.

THE Spartan lasted a year. In the summer of 1855 the late Judge William C. Jones of the firm of Sloss & Jones in St. Louis, told Charles P. Johnson he might come over to the city, read law and sleep in the office, as he was doing; and Johnson, now 18, with a dollar or two in his pocket, began the study of law. A lodging place was provided, but meals meant money. Johnson went to Phil G. Ferguson, who was publishing the Herald, and introduced himself.

"Are you the fellow that published that Independent Spartan?" asked Ferguson with sudden interest. Then followed an arrangement by which Johnson became a sub-compositor.

"I'd go down to the Herald office when I got out of funds," said Gov. Johnson, "and set type at night, work a week or so and make $8 or $10. That would fix me up for a month; make me perfectly independent. I thought nothing of studying law all day and setting type more than half of the night."

"If a young man will just adapt himself to conditions," continued Gov. Johnson, "he'll find the opportunities as good now as they ever were. The great trouble today, as I see it, is that the young men are inclined to look upon one opportunity or one kind of work as not as good as another. They seem to think it is beneath them to do this or to do that which offers and to wait for something better. That's all nonsense. A young man should take what he can get and go ahead. That was the way the late Joseph Pulitzer began. When he came here a young man and a stranger, he took anything offered, and in that way got his footing and his start toward success."

THE office of Sloss & Jones was on Pine between Second and Third streets. Across from the office upstairs was the real estate firm of Boggs & Grant. Every morning about 9 o'clock a small man came down from the real estate office and propped against the doorway, so that it could be seen by passers, a board on which were tacked slips of paper with "For Sale" or "For Rent" written at the tops of them. The small man and the boy studying law became acquainted, but neither inquired the other's name. There was a bond of interest between them created by an old colored woman who wore a turban and did the janitor work; her husband drove a dray. This old woman was motherly to the young men whose rooms she cleaned. She sewed on buttons and mended clothes for them. If the weather was cold she would bustle in and say: "Chile, come and get a cup of coffee before you go out."

Just 10 years later Charles P. Johnson, who had achieved fame in the practice of his profession and was looked upon as one of the rising political leaders in the West, went on to Washington to see the grand review after Appomattox. He called at the War Department to pay his respects to his Lieutenant-General. The two looked at each other curiously. One said: "I've seen you before." The other asked, "Aren't you the man who was in the real estate business on Pine street?"

Grant led the way to seats and the first question he asked was about the old colored woman who took care of the offices, made the coffee and mothered her young men.

Type setting led to newspaper writing. A notary's commission was obtained from Gov. Sterling Price. In various ways the living money was earned, even after 1857, when a license authorized Charles P. Johnson to practice law. In 1858 a number of young men organized a political club for Free Democracy. He made speeches and they took so well that in the spring of 1859 Charles P. Johnson was elected city attorney, a position which carried no salary, but which paid one dollar on each conviction secured. This was his real start on a professional career. Two years later a political combination forced temporary political retirement. The young lawyer voiced his disgust to Frank P. Blair.

"Charley, don't waste any time in paying debts of ingratitude. If you do you won't accomplish anything else."

"There was wisdom in it," said Gov. Johnson. "After that I never did waste time in trying to revenge myself upon any man who did me harm. I went on the theory that time would make things even. From my experience I can recommend to all young men that advice of Frank Blair."

POLITICAL honors came later to Gov. Johnson, but looking back upon them, he said:

"A lawyer should never be a candidate for an office or accept an office, unless it is in the line of his profession. That is the only excuse for a lawyer going into politics. And if he has got a good practice, or is a successful advocate, he is foolish to go on the bench. A man must be a lawyer and nothing else, if he hopes for that degree of success, which it is reasonable to presume constitutes the ambition of every one who enters the practice. Oil will not mix with water, nor does the law mix with business. Countless wrecks strew the way toward success in the legal world that have been caused by this mistake in trying to be an attorney and something else at the same time."

"To be a good lawyer is a higher honor than to occupy any public office," he continued; "but it is right to take an interest in public affairs."

Gov. Johnson has no regret for the time he took from the practice of his profession to go to the Legislature and draft the laws which killed the Missouri State Lottery and made gambling a felony. The months he devoted to the enforcement of these statutes "to break up a ring that had possession of the city," were not lost, as he estimates the obligations of his profession.

"The first great essential to success is study, and persevering study," Gov. Johnson concluded; "not hurried industry, but persistent rational industry, such as pursues the lines of investigation in a manner to fully absorb and assimilate the knowledge sought and give it permanent lodgement. When I say success as a lawyer, I do not mean success in the accumulation of a competence, or even more financially, but in the reaching of that association with a practice of the law when one realizes in full the sacred responsibilities thereof, and the possibility of the accomplishment of great good in serving justice to all men when the opportunity is offered."

The Quick-Acting Cold Remedy

To make a hard cold vanish more quickly than you ever thought it could, try a box of Pinex Cold Tablets. Two doses give wonderful relief, and the trouble is usually conquered inside of twenty hours. Unequaled for la grippe—no other remedy will stop the aches and pains so rapidly.

These tablets do not contain a particle of opiates or coal tar heart depressants, and are entirely simple, harmless and agreeable. They check the nasal discharge, reduce the fever, restore normal activity in the pores, and are very pleasantly lavative and tonic. Cost no more than quinine capsules and are immensely superior.

Don't accept a substitute—one trial of this quick-acting remedy will show you that there is nothing else "just as good" as Pinex Cold Tablets. Money refunded if disappointed. 25c per box. If necessary send to The Pinex Co., Fort Wayne, Ind., (makers of "Pinex" Cough Remedy.—ADV.

RIKER'S EXPECTORANT Stops Coughs

How I Got Rid of My Warts

"I am not troubled with warts any more, because I have learned how to get rid of them," said a young lady when asked what had become of the unsightly warts that had disfigured the beauty of her hands. "It is very simple. Go to your druggist; get two drams of Traxit (triple strength). Bathe the wart in warm water just before retiring, dip a wooden toothpick into the Traxit and touch the wart lightly. Inside of three days your warts will disappear, just as mine did."—ADV.

A NEW YORK girl visiting recently in Philadelphia was taken to the opera by a young man, and at the close of the performance was asked to partake of some slight refreshment. At the conclusion of the repast she was somewhat astonished to see her escort reach for her pocketbook, which lay on the table at her side, and coolly pay the bill out of her money. This, it seems, is customary in Philadelphia when a young gentleman's means are somewhat limited. It relieves his lady friends of the embarrassment they might otherwise feel on partaking of any entertainment at his cost. It struck the New York girl, however, as being very ridiculous, and she began to laugh. "I fear you are laughing at my expense," said the young man; "let me explain." "Oh, no," she replied; "I was laugh- [illegible]

PRETTY ANKLES MAY BE GAINED

In This Day of Short Skirts, Billie Burke Says, a Woman Must See to It That She "Ends Well," and Tells How Trimness May Be Won.

Written for the Post-Dispatch

By Billie Burke.

Nineteenth Lesson.

IN this day of short and tight skirts, which are worn by women of all ages (whether fifteen or five and fifty) there is little left to the imagination as to the shape and size of ankles, or anything else, for that matter, which is part of the average woman one passes on the street and judging from what one sees there are few women who really end well. Whether it is the fault of the buttoned boots, that don't fit half the time, or the ankles themselves, who can say?

CAN it be true that women—and men too—are all getting box ankled, and flat footed, and knee sprung, as the croakers say they are, on account of the hard pavements and generations of tight shoes?

However, ankles have been and will continue to be displayed for many a day, as long as women hold the place they have gained in the field of sport and the business world.

What short skirts reveal often causes one to pause and wonder how some women have the "face" to wear them.

There is a mysterious fascination about a pair of pretty ankles peeping out from under a bobbed little skirt that somehow, gives one a certainty about everything else that goes with them being alright, too. But grave doubts accompany them when they terminate in badly-fitting boots, run down at the heels.

I am not going to write a long prelude or sing a long song about the unloveliness of being beef to the heel, but come directly to the point by giving four easy exercises that will MAKE and KEEP ankles trim.

I don't promise that they shall be small, because small ankles are born, not made, and are dependent upon small bones; but I do promise that they will be straight and trim.

DANCING, especially artistic dancing, is the best exercise in the world for beautifying ankles, legs, and the entire body, but everyone can't go in for a course in fancy dancing and anyone can spare a few minutes each day for making her body more symmetrical, so here is a substitute: Stand with hands on hips and with heels and knees together throw the weight of the body forward and rise to your full height on your toes. While rising make the muscles of your feet and ankles do all the work. Repeat at least 10 or 15 times.

Take the first position again, rise on your toes and squat slowly, very slowly, with your arms at your sides. Now rise slowly—all the time on your toes—and pretend to be lifting a great weight in your arms by closing your hands. As you rise, slowly raise your arms higher until (when you have completed the exercise) both arms will be as high above your head as you can possibly reach and you are as high on your toes as possible with every muscle in your body taut. When you first start doing this exercise, once or twice will be about all you can manage, but increase the number of times you do it every day. Soon feet, ankles and legs will iron out and become at least trim.

FOR the hips and upper legs two exercises will suffice. Rolling is one. And to roll properly extend the arms above the head, never with them straight down at the sides, but above the head. When you lift your arms it raises the diaphragm and your ribs or chest take the brunt of the roll and not your bust, which can be badly bruised by rolling carelessly. Roll back and forth as many times as you can.

The other exercise is raising your arms above your head and touching your fingers to the floor without bending the knees. This last one tightens up all the muscles of the back, from shoulders to knees.

The rolling is good for hips and the entire body, and the other two are for ankles and lower legs. Try them and see how great will be the improvement in a short time and a short [illegible]t will not reveal plump ankles all out of plumb.

New Drug That Quickly Removes These Homely Spots.

There's no longer the slightest need of feeling ashamed of your freckles, as a new drug, othine—double strength, has been discovered that is a positive cure for these homely spots.

Simply get one ounce of othine—double strength, from Wolff-Wilson Drug Co. and apply a little of it at night, and in the morning you will see that even the worst have begun to disappear, while the light freckles have vanished entirely. It is seldom that more than an ounce is needed to completely clear the skin and gain a beautiful, clear complexion.

That Awful Change.

CONNIE MACK, manager of the Athletics, was discussing in Philadelphia a pitcher who had gone back.

"You'd never believe he was the same man," he said. "It's like the lost memory case."

"'Ain't it strange?' said a woman to her husband. 'Here's a gent who, after a fit of illness, can't remember his wife, and refuses to believe she's the woman he married.'

"The man grunted.

"'Well, he ain't the first man,' he said 'that can't realize his wife is the same woman he once went crazy over.'"—Cincinnati Enquirer.

Horses Versus Motor.

"YOU still stick to that old 10-year-old nag of yours, I see, Blithers," said Dubbleigh. "Why don't you get a motor?"

"Well," said Blithers, "I've sort of found that there is more style to a 1902 model horse than there is to a 1902 model car."

Does Every Woman Long to Be Beautiful?

("Esther" in Household Helps.)

"If you want light, fluffy and lustrous hair, don't shampoo with soap and water, which leave the hair dull and brittle. To make a dry shampoo, put a cupful of corn meal in a fruit jar, add the contents of a small original package of therox, and shake well. Sprinkle a little on the head and brush out thoroughly. This makes your hair clean, soft and silky and heightens its color.

"If you want a fine complexion, with soft and lovely skin, use a simple home-made preparation made by dissolving an original package of mayatone in a half-pint of witch hazel. Apply to to face, neck and arms in the morning, rubbing gently.

"To reduce swelling, allay inflammation, to stop ache in back and joints, to relieve pain from sprain, bruise or any cause, apply Mother's Salve before retiring, rubbing in well. It is a most wonderful healer."—ADV.

THOUSANDS WELCOME CARDINAL FARLEY

Choir of 6000 Children Gathers at Cathedral, Which Will Be Outlined in Fire.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—John M. Farley, Archbishop of New York, came home a cardinal to a welcome that will mark an epoch in his life. After an absence of two months abroad he was the first of America's new "princes of the church" to touch home shores and, as such, many thousands prepared to do him honor.

Thousands along the line of march from the battery to St. Patrick's Cathedral at Fifth avenue and Fiftieth street and thousands more, including a choir of 6000 parochial school children, gathered within the edifice, noted with reverence his progress to the episcopal throne.

The steamship Berlin, bearing the cardinal and suite, which reached here last night, got an early start up the bay to dock at Hoboken after 10 a. m.

Today's ceremonies marked only the beginning of receptions, ecclesiastical, public and private, at which Cardinal Farley will be the chief figure, for the next few days. Tonight the Cathedral itself will become a structure of fire, having been strung from spire to sidewalk with 40,000 electric bulbs.

Washington Woman Tells of Wonderful Action of Resinol

The national capital is not impervious to the war disease and germs are waging on humanity. The following is, in part, a letter received from a young lady in Washington, which shows that the action of Resinol is really a court of last resort. And we might add, after you have tried everything else, and you really want relief, use Resinol. Read the letter:

"I take great pleasure in telling you that your Resinol Soap in connection with your ointment has been the cause of curing a most aggravating sore. Many things had been used to perfect a cure, but nothing was efficient. Partly for a trial, we tried your ointment, and the sore that had lasted for two years is now healed.

"MISS A. MAGEE,
"Washington, D. C."

Patrons' Association Cannot Exist Because Woman Principal Won't Consent

PRINCIPAL ASHLAND SCHOOL.

MRS. HALCYON CHILDS.

The New Ashland School Patrons' association, which was formed last October by 90 men, has failed as yet to come into existence officially and will fail as long as Mrs. Halcyon Childs of 4561 McKinley avenue is principal of that school. She has decided that there shall be no association there, no matter how solidly the 90 men organize and how many meetings they hold. She will not surrender, even if they make a campaign to have her transferred to another school, she says.

The men, however, seem to think their association can get along without Mrs. Child's approval. At any rate they are going ahead with their meetings and have appealed to Superintendent Blewett to give the organization an official lease of life, which has so far been denied by what they term "the antagonistic position taken by Mrs. H. Childs, the principal."

Mrs. Childs says the association, without her approval, never can become an officially recognized patrons' organization because of the School Board's rule which requires the filing of a joint petition, signed not only by the petitioners but by the principal of the school.

Says They Are Menace.

Mrs. Childs says she has studied the question for years and is convinced that patrons' association menace the freedom of the schools. Her observations are based on 42 years' experience as a teacher in St. Louis and 25 years' work as a principal, 14 of which have been spent at the Ashland schools, old and new.

"The association was formed without my knowledge and the first evidence of its existence was last October, when the members took charge of the dedication exercises at the new school, Newstead and San Francisco avenues. I considered it a little unusual that they should usurp the powers of the School Board," she said.

"I believe the school board is the only patrons' association we need. It is a wealthy body and can give us any necessary equipment. Furthermore, I don't want to be working for anybody but the board, and therefore shall not consent to an association, which would gradually assume power as an outside body to the wishes of which I would be forced to accede."

The new Ashland School has 22 rooms and employs 23 teachers at present. Mrs. Childs' husband, Prof. C. F. Childs, was principal in 1865 of the old St. Louis High School at Fifteenth and Olive streets. He died in 1866.

SLEEPS ON STAGE AS GUARDIAN OF SHOW PROPERTY

Deputy Sheriff Acts as Watchman at the Century Theater.

After Deputy Sheriff George Beck had slept all night on the Century Theater stage to prevent the property of the Blanche Ring company from being removed, it was announced Wednesday that the $7000 attachment suit filed against the company by the Garrick Theater management Tuesday will not interfere with the production of the "Wall Street Girl" the remainder of the week.

Beck peacefully slumbered under four Navajo blankets used in the show.

The attachment was served at the Century Tuesday night, and Miss Ring's share of the box office receipts was seized. According to Manager Cave of the Century, arrangements were made Wednesday by which the National Surety Co. will furnish a $14,000 bond to release the attachment.

This will be done, he says, in time for the company to use its costumes, scenery and properties at Wednesday night's performance. The show was not interfered with Tuesday night except for the seizure of receipts.

The attachment suit is the outcome of differences which arose when Miss Ring refused to appear at the Garrick Theater after it reduced its prices. She switched her engagement to the Century. In denying an injunction against her appearance at the Century, Judge Muench indicated that the Garrick could obtain legal redress by suing the Blanche Ring company for damages on a breach of contract.

CARDINAL GIBBONS NOT DAUNTED BY BAD FALL

Insists on Blessing Dead Priest's Body Despite Severe Shock.

BALTIMORE, Jan. 17. — Severely shocked by a fall to the floor at the altar at St. Vincent's Catholic Church, Cardinal Gibbons displayed wonderful nerve and insisted on performing his part in the ceremony attending the last rites over the body of the Rev. Desire C. de Wulf.

Immediately after the mass the Cardinal arose from his seat under a canopy to don extra vestments before blessing the body of the dead priest. While the robes were being placed on his shoulders one of the priests took the chair from under the canopy. The Cardinal, who had not seen the removal of the chair, started to sit down again and fell to the floor.

At the Cathedral it was said the Cardinal was not confined to his bed.

PANIC AT GUAYAQUIL AS CRUISER DESERTS

Officers and Men of Bolivar Change Allegiance and Fire on Gunboat.

GUAYAQUIL, Ecuador, Jan. 17.—There was a panic here at midnight owing to an insurrection on board the cruiser Bolivar, whose officers and men have transferred their allegiance to the Quito Government, deserting the provisional government of Gen. Montero.

The Bolivar fired shells in the direction of the gunboat Tarqui as she was returning from the seaport of Duran with a detachment of troops to this city.

The inhabitants fled panic-stricken to shelter, fearing a battle was about to occur between the cruiser and the land forces.

The news of the dispatch of four United States warships is welcomed here.

BEETHOVEN'S "DANCE SYMPHONY" THIS WEEK

The most important number of this week's Symphony Orchestra concerts, Friday afternoon and Saturday night, at the Odeon, will be the Beethoven Symphony No. 7 in A Major, which will be heard here for the first time in several years.

It has been frequently called the "Dance Symphony," because of the beautiful rhythm of the various movements, especially the last. When last heard here, it was given by the Damrosch Orchestra, and Isadora Duncan danced to its playing. Beethoven always appeals strongly to music lovers and Director Zach is particularly happy in conducting the orchestra in his great symphonies. The concert will close with the prelude to "Die Meistersinger."

The soloist will be Helena Lewyn, pianist, a young Texas girl, who is making her first American tour, although already a favorite in European concert circles. She will play the beautiful Chopin concerto in F. Minor.

DIAMOND KILLS CHICKEN

Prize Bird Swallows Stone and Dies After Operation.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—"Champion," a golden wyandotte cockerel, prize winner at a number of poultry shows is dead from eating a diamond. The bird, the property of Henry J. Hunt III, was on exhibition at the Washington Poultry and Pigeon Association.

The brilliant stone in a ring on the hand of its owner, attracting its attention, it pecked off the stone and swallowed it. An operation and the effects of chloroform caused "Champion's" death.

Post-Dispatch's Complete Daily Record of Markets and Finance

STOCK PRICES SHOW CHANGES UP AND DOWN

Speculation Again Centers in the Coalers; London Market Firm.

TRADE STATEMENTS GOOD

Exports for Year Just Closed Total $100,000,000 Over Previous Record.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The Evening Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"The idle and purposeless drift, which has characterized our markets since the opening of the year, prevailed again today. This apathetic state of the financial mind seems to be world wide.

"On the London Stock Exchange it expresses itself in the almost exclusive converging of financial activity upon the so-called minor specialties at New York. It results partly in the same attention to small things, partly in the desultory churning of prices around a generally unchanged level, in two or three stocks which professional traders always deal in.

"Generally speaking, today's stock market was firm, though most of the movement of prices was irregular and fractional.

More Gold Shipments.

"Aside from the resumption of the gold movement to South America, little of consequence developed in the news.

"The Government's report on the country's foreign trade for the full year 1911 was fully as brilliant a showing has had been expected, exports running $100,000,000 ahead of any preceding year, and more than doubling the $1,000,000,000 total of 1896, while excess of exports over imports is the largest ever achieved except in 1908, 1900 and 1898.

"It is not without interest to recall the kind of economic year which followed every one of those three high record export balance years.

"The Imperial Bank of Germany weekly report showed a distinctly relaxing money strain in that market. Its cash holdings have increased $23,000,000, while its loans have decreased $73,000,000, and its outstanding note circulation $58,000,000.

"All of these changes are larger by 50 per cent than the similar changes of this week a year ago.

"The Iron Age speaks cheerfully of the steel situation in its weekly review, intimating that volume of orders on the books of producing companies are being well maintained.

"Half a million dollars was taken for Argentina, and the indications pointed to larger shipments from this city, if the Paris banks were disposed to offer sufficient inducement to make the operation worth while.

"But the Paris and London markets have ordinarily to make large remittances to South America at this season, and, owing to the plethora of money here, it is natural for the foreign banks to attempt to shift the burden upon New York.

German Loans Full.

"There was no other foreign demand of much importance, and it was evident that the German borrowers had pretty well arranged for the taking up of the loans maturing here within the next week or so.

"One development which came about directly as a consequence of the great ease in money rates was the bidding for large blocks of bonds by institutions that usually have heavy sums loaned out on call at this season.

"This inquiry was a distinct factor in the market today, being reflected chiefly in offers to buy blocks of $500,000 or $1,000,000 of bonds, having an active market, and insuring the holders a net return of from 4¼ to 4¾ per cent.

"There were also indications of a gradually broadening demand from private investors. The situation showed plainly, however, that the chief demand was for short-term obligations; generally those having one or two years to run."

DETAILED REPORTS OF DAY'S WALL STREET TRANSACTIONS

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Movements of stocks were nominal at the opening of the market today. Trading was unusually light and there was not a sufficient demand to affect the level of prices materially. The only sign of life aside from a decline of a point in Canadian Pacific was in the coalers and tobacco stocks. Lehigh Valley rose ½, Liggett & Meyers 3 and the preferred stock 1½.

Favorite stocks were within a narrow range. Efforts to raise prices were interfered with by the readiness of traders to sell on rallies. Central Railroad of New Jersey rose 4; American Snuff preferred, 2¼; American Malting preferred, 2, and American Tobacco preferred, Pacific Telephone and Western Union, 1.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Neglect of the usual leaders in favor of a few specialties again characterized the stock market this morning. Manipulation of the tobacco stocks and bonds continued and there was a further rise in some of the coalers. Some investment specialties, including the telegraph and telephone issues were in better demand. The standard stocks were listless but lacked the firm undertone evident yesterday.

Room traders sold the usual leaders freely in the second hour and forced prices below yesterday's closing, Union Pacific losing a point. United States Steel, American Smelting and the Hill stocks also were decidedly heavy.

Pool operations in the tobacco group were not impeded by the depression elsewhere, those issues all rising considerably higher than previously.

Bonds were firm.

Transactions were mostly at a slightly lower level between 12 and 1 o'clock, but there was very little business.

Further recessions were made in the forenoon before support became effective and the list rallied. Union Pacific was the bear target, but there was spasmodic selling of United States Steel and Reading. Both the old and the new American Tobacco preferred stocks were lifted about 3 points and some of the other members of the group also went higher.

The market closed steady. A better tone manifested itself in the late trading and there was a quite general recovery of the earlier losses. National Biscuit rose 4 and Missouri Pacific 1. Reading and Lehigh Valley were offered down later without disturbing the general market.

COTTON MARKET IS HIGHER ON BETTER LABOR REPORTS

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—The cotton market opened steady at an advance of 1@5 points in response to higher cables and a feeling that the proposed plan for ending the Lancashire strike as agreed upon by the committee in Manchester late yesterday would be ratified next Friday.

The South was rather a freer seller here at the opening figures, and early fluctuations were somewhat irregular, but the market received good support from trade sources. Reports from Boston were optimistic as to settlement of the New England mill troubles and prices late in the first hour were 6 to 7 points net higher.

After working up to a net advance of 9@11 points late in the forenoon, prices reacted 3 or 4 points under realizing, but there was no aggressive selling and the market at midday was quiet and steady pending fresh developments.

The market was quiet during the afternoon, prices working off to within 2 or 3 points of yesterday's closing under scattering liquidation and a little selling inspired by rumors of a bearish national ginner's report. The closing was irregular.

Estimated receipts at the ports today, 37,000 bales, against 38,372 last week, and 28,390 last year. For the week, 310,000 bales, against 354,269 last week, and 223,795 last year. Today's receipts at New Orleans, 6223 bales, against 9803 last year; at Galveston, 15,983, against 9908 last year, and at Houston 7919 bales, against 13,921 last year.

COAL TRADE ACTIVE.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Notwithstanding the fact that the miners were slow in returning to work after the holidays, and the fact that stormy weather restricted mining on at least two or three days, some of the larger companies have mined more coal this month than in January, 1911.

In that month nearly 6,000,000 tons of coal were shipped to market, a larger amount than in any other January except one. The general belief is that the production this month will be heavy.

The real winter weather over the whole of the anthracite consuming belt for the past week has stimulated renewed activity in the trade, and has largely increased the consumption of coal. Everybody is busy and deliveries have been fairly prompt, though for the first time this season weather conditions have been adverse. There is buoyancy in all departments of the trade and another period of good business is indicated.

A strong market in corn, despite an increase in receipts, featured the grain trade Wednesday. Professionals favored the advance from the start. Commission-house business was light. Until the late session when big manipulative buying on good cash demands caused a scramble of shorts. Prices rose over 1c a bushel and closed at the top figure of the day.

In wheat there was not much demand, but prices were steady to higher along with corn, cables were bullish and Canadian markets strong. Steady cash prices also were a sustaining factor.

The firmer American cables yesterday and the strength in Buenos Ayres caused shorts to cover in the early market at Liverpool, and values were ¼d to ⅜d higher. Later there was some selling by Plate houses, and this stimulated a disposition for profits and prices reacted ⅛d. Near the close, however, this same element covered freely, and the decline was recovered, with an additional advance of ⅛d from the opening.

Liverpool corn opened ¼d higher, and further advanced ¼d to ⅜d, with the undertone strong; shorts covered on the scarcity of American offers, firmness in Buenos Ayres, and the fact that country markets were strong, with Mark Lane 1½ to 3 pence higher for both American and Danubian. Spot markets were ½d to ¾d higher for American grades. Spot wheat opened steady and unchanged; corn strong, with the new American ¾d higher and old grades ½d higher.

Liverpool wheat futures closed ⅝d to ¾d lower; corn, ¾d to ⅞d higher. Paris wheat, ⅜c to 1c up; corn, 1¾c to 2½c up. Berlin wheat, ¼c up. Budapest, ¼c lower.

Minneapolis wheat receipts were liberal, totaling 231 cars today, against 114 last week and 218 last year. Duluth had 16, last week 12, last year 26. Winnipeg had 102, last week 148, last year 35. Minneapolis wheat stocks decreased 175,000 bushels in four days.

Local wheat receipts today were 25,300 bushels, or 20 cars local, 3 through; last year, 31,900 bushels, or 28 cars local, 1 through. Corn receipts, 146,400 bushels, or 104 cars local, 18 through; last year, 66,350 bushels, or 140 sacks, 31 cars local, 4 through. Oats receipts, 37,400 bushels, or 14 cars local, 8 through; last year, 28,900 bushels, or 13 cars local, 4 through.

Total primary wheat receipts today were 391,361 bushels, against 420,000 bushels last year. Shipments, 275,706 bushels, against 243,000 bushels last year. Corn receipts today, 971,712 bushels, against 745,000 bushels last year. Shipments, 467,000 bushels, against 574,000 bushels last year.

The Daily Trade Bulletin statistician estimates that the United States has an exportable surplus of 89,000,000 bu of wheat, based on the revised crop and consumption figures. Year ago reserves were 141,000,000. The present surplus is the lowest since Jan. 1, 1901. The exports from Jan. 1 to July 1, 1911 were 83,000,000 bu. On the same basis this year it would leave only 56,000,000 bu for carrying over to July 1, 1912.

Chicago reported cash sales of 300,000 bu corn, including 150,000 bu for exports and 110,000 bu oats. No export sales were reported at the seaboard. Chicago cash wheat was ¾c to 1c higher.

A special Russian news cable said: "The famine district which covers a very large area is still buying wheat, and bidding equal to 8 shillings 2 pence per cental for fine quality delivered there. Our agent at Rostoff predicts that there will be small spring shipments, owing to the poor outlook for the new crop."

Export clearances of wheat and flour today were 268,000 bu, of corn 226,000 bu, of oats none.

Chicago wheat receipts today were 24 cars; corn, 428; oats 103. Estimated tomorrow: wheat, 11; corn 291; oats 65.

Cash wheat closed dull and in light demand.

Cash corn ½c to 1c higher with futures and on good shipping purchases.

Cash oats stronger for white grades; fair demand.

SAFETY OF ALL THEATERS TO BE INQUIRED INTO

Special Committee of Council Also Will Investigate McKelvey's Office.

HAVLIN'S FRAY BROADENS

Anti-Administration Forces Win Their Point in Vote in Council.

Charges made by the Carpenters' Union against James N. McKelvey, Building Commissioner, involving the alleged unsafety of Havlin's Theater, will lead to a Council investigation of all of the St. Louis theaters, as well as of Havlin's, and of McKelvey's office.

Councilmen Protzmann, Davis and Haller, at Tuesday's meeting of the City Council, were appointed a special committee with full power to investigate the safety of every theater in the city and the conduct of McKelvey's office. This action is the outgrowth of carpenters' charges, laid before Mayor Kreismann several weeks ago, that Havlin's Theater, following its reconstruction under McKelvey's supervision, is unsafe. The theater has been closed for additional repairs.

Councilman Lehmberg championed McKelvey and declared the theater incident had been sufficiently aired by the reports of the architects appointed by the Mayor. Anti-administration members favored an open trial of McKelvey by the Council. Protzmann offered a resolution providing for an investigation by a special committee, which carried, by the following vote:

For investigation—Caulfield, Davis, Fletcher, Haller, Protzmann, Randall and Gundlach.

Against investigation — Espenschied, Evers, Lehmberg and Rower.

RALPH PULITZER IS MADE LIFE EXECUTOR

Eldest Son of Joseph Pulitzer Takes Place as Trustee of Estate and Newspapers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—By the action of Surrogate Fowler in granting to him letters testamentary yesterday Ralph Pulitzer, eldest son of the late Joseph Pulitzer, becomes an executor for life of the estate left by his father. Also he takes his place as a trustee of the Pulitzer newspaper properties, which include the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. In addition to this one the will created several other trusts of which Ralph Pulitzer now qualifies as trustee.

This step ends the confusion that followed the publication of the will because of the omission of Ralph Pulitzer's name as an executor. This omission was explained at that time by William B. Hornblower, personal counsel for Joseph Pulitzer, and the lawyer who drew the instrument, as due to the oversight of one of his clerical force.

The retirement of Justice Putnam as executor and trustee opened the way to the election of Ralph Pulitzer to these positions, in accordance with the desire of his father as expressed to Hornblower. In addition to the positions he fills under the will, Mr. Pulitzer is president of the Press Publishing Co., which publishes the World.

Besides Ralph Pulitzer the executors of the estate are George L. Rives, who also has a life term; Frederick N. Judson of St. Louis, to serve until the thirtieth birthday of Joseph Pulitzer Jr., who is now 26, and J. Angus Shaw, to serve until the majority of Herbert Pulitzer, now 15, Ralph Pulitzer having been named by his father as one of the guardians of Herbert.

The Union Trust Co. of New York is an executor also. The executors, with the exception of the last named form the board of trustees of the newspapers.

EX-CONVICT WILL SPEAK

Dick Lane of Chicago, who, the announcement says, has served several years in penitentiaries, will tell of his conversion and Miss Mary Hitchcock, a missionary of South Africa, will talk at the Friday night meeting.

For Rheumatism, Elmer & Amend's N. Y. 2851 gives relief. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, carry it.

Buggy Maker Orders Motor Boat for June Delivery.

Russell E. Gardner, millionaire buggy manufacturer, is having built, at Alton, a gasoline speed yacht of 150-horsepower to be delivered in June. The boat will be 57 feet long, with a 12-foot beam, and will have a standing cabin of mahogany and glass with observation rooms. The plans indicate that it will be one of the finest yachts on the Mississippi River.

Surplus Stock Sale of Overcoats

$30, $27.50, $25 Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats, $15

$45, $40, $37.50, $35 Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats, $25

This surplus stock sale of Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats certainly attracted a crowd today—just as we expected. When we quote prices on fine overcoats that are a saving of ½, ⅓ and ¼ on their former value, men know that they are getting unusual bargains.

It isn't often that an opportunity like this one comes to you, or to us either; ordinarily we couldn't sell these Overcoats at such low prices, but we bought the entire surplus stock of Overcoats from Hart Schaffner & Marx's factory at a liberal price concession, and now we're selling them at ridiculous prices, considering the fine qualities that are involved.

You should buy an overcoat now, whether you really need it or not; the styles on sale are the most desirable models of the season, and you can save so much money on your purchase that the investment will yield from 50% to 100%. Isn't that worth while? Better come here tomorrow, sure.

Suits and Overcoats from our own former stock are also being sold at liberal price reductions.

DRIVES A SEVERE COLD OR THE GRIPPE FROM YOUR SYSTEM IN SEVERAL HOURS.

There is not one grain of quinine in Pape's Cold Compound, which, when taken every two hours, until three consecutive doses are taken, will surely end the grippe and break up the most severe cold, either in the head, chest, back, stomach or limbs.

It promptly relieves the most miserable headache, dullness, head and nose stuffed up, feverishness, sneezing, sore throat, running of the nose, catarrhal affections, soreness, stiffness and rheumatic twinges.

Pape's Cold Compound is the result of three years' research at a cost of more than fifty thousand dollars, and contains no quinine, which we have conclusively demonstrated is not effective in the treatment of colds or grippe.

Take this harmless Compound as directed, with the knowledge that there is no other medicine made anywhere else in the world which will cure your cold or end Grippe misery as promptly and without any other assistance or bad after-effects as a 25-cent package of Pape's Cold Compound, which any druggist in the world can supply.—ADV.

SAFETY OF ALL THEATERS TO BE INQUIRED INTO

HAVLIN'S FRAY BROADENS

Anti-Administration Forces Win Their Point in Vote in Council.

Charges made by the Carpenters' Union against James N. McKelvey, Building Commissioner, involving the alleged unsafety of Havlin's Theater, will lead to a Council investigation of all of the St. Louis theaters, as well as of Havlin's, and of McKelvey's office.

Councilmen Protzmann, Davis and Haller, at Tuesday's meeting of the City Council, were appointed a special committee with full power to investigate the safety of every theater in the city and the conduct of McKelvey's office. This action is the outgrowth of carpenters' charges, laid before Mayor Kreismann several weeks ago, that Havlin's Theater, following its reconstruction under McKelvey's supervision, is unsafe. The theater has been closed for additional repairs.

Councilman Lehmberg championed McKelvey and declared the theater incident had been sufficiently aired by the reports of the architects appointed by the Mayor. Anti-administration members favored an open trial of McKelvey by the Council. Protzmann offered a resolution providing for an investigation by a special committee, which carried, by the following vote:

For investigation—Caulfield, Davis, Fletcher, Haller, Protzmann, Randall and Gundlach.

Against investigation — Espenschied, Evers, Lehmberg and Rower.

Eldest Son of Joseph Pulitzer Takes Place as Trustee of Estate and Newspapers.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—By the action of Surrogate Fowler in granting to him letters testamentary yesterday Ralph Pulitzer, eldest son of the late Joseph Pulitzer, becomes an executor for life of the estate left by his father. Also he takes his place as a trustee of the Pulitzer newspaper properties, which include the New York World and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. In addition to this one the will created several other trusts of which Ralph Pulitzer now qualifies as trustee.

This step ends the confusion that followed the publication of the will because of the omission of Ralph Pulitzer's name as an executor. This omission was explained at that time by William B. Hornblower, personal counsel for Joseph Pulitzer, and the lawyer who drew the instrument, as due to the oversight of one of his clerical force.

The retirement of Justice Putnam as executor and trustee opened the way to the election of Ralph Pulitzer to these positions, in accordance with the desire of his father as expressed to Hornblower. In addition to the positions he fills under the will, Mr. Pulitzer is president of the Press Publishing Co., which publishes the World.

Besides Ralph Pulitzer the executors of the estate are George L. Rives, who also has a life term; Frederick N. Judson of St. Louis, to serve until the thirtieth birthday of Joseph Pulitzer Jr., who is now 26, and J. Angus Shaw, to serve until the majority of Herbert Pulitzer, now 15, Ralph Pulitzer having been named by his father as one of the guardians of Herbert.

The Union Trust Co. of New York is an executor also. The executors, with the exception of the last named form the board of trustees of the newspapers.

EX-CONVICT WILL SPEAK

To Tell at the Euclid Avenue Church of His Conversion.

The Rev. Henry F. Klyver of Franklin, Ind., will open the Soul-Winning Conference for Christian Workers at the Euclid Avenue Baptist Church, Euclid avenue and Page boulevard, Wednesday night. The conference will continue with daily sessions until Sunday night, and is given under the auspices of the Euclid Brotherhood.

Dick Lane of Chicago, who, the announcement says, has served several years in penitentiaries, will tell of his conversion and Miss Mary Hitchcock, a missionary of South Africa, will talk at the Friday night meeting.

For Rheumatism, Elmer & Amend's N. Y. 2851 gives relief. Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., St. Louis, carry it.

NEW YACHT FOR GARDNER

Russell E. Gardner, millionaire buggy manufacturer, is having built, at Alton, a gasoline speed yacht of 150-horsepower to be delivered in June. The boat will be 57 feet long, with a 12-foot beam, and will have a standing cabin of mahogany and glass with observation rooms. The plans indicate that it will be one of the finest yachts on the Mississippi River.

Tries to End Life in Court.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Just after the dismissal of a jury, which found Joseph Ferrone guilty of murder in the first degree for killing his wife, Ferrone tried to take his life, slashing his throat with fragments of glass. Court attendants overpowered him.

Mortgage on Home, Gift for Widow.

NEW YORK, Jan. 17.—Announcement was made that the Equitable Life Assurance Society had purchased the $2518 mortgage on the home of the late Battalion Chief William J. Walsh and had presented it to his widow. Walsh perished in the Equitable fire.

Surplus Stock Sale of Overcoats

$45, $40, $37.50, $35 Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats, $25

This surplus stock sale of Hart Schaffner & Marx Overcoats certainly attracted a crowd today—just as we expected. When we quote prices on fine overcoats that are a saving of ½, ⅓ and ¼ on their former value, men know that they are getting unusual bargains.

It isn't often that an opportunity like this one comes to you, or to us either; ordinarily we couldn't sell these Overcoats at such low prices, but we bought the entire surplus stock of Overcoats from Hart Schaffner & Marx's factory at a liberal price concession, and now we're selling them at ridiculous prices, considering the fine qualities that are involved.

You should buy an overcoat now, whether you really need it or not; the styles on sale are the most desirable models of the season, and you can save so much money on your purchase that the investment will yield from 50% to 100%. Isn't that worth while? Better come here tomorrow, sure.

Suits and Overcoats from our own former stock are also being sold at liberal price reductions.
